

Arctic Explorer Gets 14 Years, 9 Months And Fine In Oil Frauds

Judge Makes Scathing Denunciation Of Dr. Cook In Issuing Sentence

Fort Worth, Tex.—Shorn of any glory that may accrue because of his spectacular oil promotions and his colorful adventures to the ice-capped equator of the pole, Dr. Frederick Cook takes a cell in the Tarrant county jail Thursday. His last oil promotion, the Petroleum Producers' association, was his undoing.

Late Wednesday Dr. Cook was sentenced to 14 years and nine months in Leavenworth penitentiary by Judge J. Killits of Toledo, O., who tried his case. Added to the sentence is a fine of $12,000. The defendant was charged with using the mails to defraud. If he appeals his case, he must arrange bond of $50,000, perhaps the largest ever named in Texas. Joseph Nelson Bailey, his senior counsel, said he could not provide the sum demanded, and if he cannot, Dr. Cook must stay in the county jail, until his appeal is heard. If he does make it, he must remain in jail until the record of the trial is perfected and approved by Judge Killits. This may require several weeks.

Revision Would Not Affect Tax For 1924

Even Though Congress Should Pass New Revenue Law, Public Would Not Feel Effect Until 1925

Washington—Judging by some of the letters received from various parts of the country, some people have the mistaken impression that the revision of taxes, which Secretary Mellon proposed would take effect with payments made next March. The fact is Congress rarely gets to work in the few weeks of December and the new law will not be on the basis of the present law for all income received up to and including Dec. 31 of this year.

Sound Congress revises the present law it probably would take several weeks of consideration and it might be April or May before the bill sets through both houses of Congress and is before the president for signature. Mr. Mellon, however, has suggested that the new law should take effect on Jan. 1, 1925. Taxpayers will not have felt any reduction when they pay a year from this month for president and for members of Congress. They will have before them the prospect of lower taxes in the following March.

There are many people, on the other hand, who set aside every week or month the amount of their income that they must ultimately pay to government. These folks would be able to set aside smaller sums for income tax beginning next January if they knew that the law will be written so as to take effect on incomes received beginning next January it will be several months after that before the taxpayers will know what amounts they really must pay in taxes.

TOT FIRES SHOT WHICH KILLS DAD

Duluth Bank Cashier Slain By Shot From Rifle In Own Home

Duluth, Minn.—Accidentally shot with his own rifle, Walter C. Harris, 46, teller at the American Exchange National bank, was killed at 3:15 Wednesday at his home. The statement was made that the shot which ended his life was fired accidentally by his little 8-year-old daughter, Jane. Betty, the older of the two little girls, was so frightened that she was unable to give a coherent account of the accident. Sobbing violently, the child expressed the fear that it was thought that she "shot her daddy." Little Jane, too young to realize what had happened, cried plaintively for her father.

Mr. Harris, who had been a teller at the American Exchange bank for five years, had been connected with the bank for a total of 17 years.

Surviving are Mrs. Harris, the two little daughters, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver R. Harris of Lakeside; a sister, Mrs. Ruby Anderson; two brothers, Edwin and Earl, all of Duluth.

PLAN AIR RESERVE TO TRAIN EXPERTS

War Department Would Turn Out 200 Flyers Annually By New Schedule

Washington—Plans for an aviation reserve system which will train between 150 and 200 expert flyers annually were announced Thursday by the navy department. Embodied in the program is the basis of a new policy which it is said constituted the first concrete strength required by modern tactics.

In each naval district "in which the house is sufficiently interested" there will be organized and maintained a reserve aviation unit capable of turning out a minimum of ten pilots a year. The newly established reserve will be kept to a fixed strength by its annual influx of new blood.

9 KILLED IN BLAST OF SUGAR REFINERY

New Iberia, La.—Search continued Thursday for additional bodies in the ruins of the Vida sugar refinery at Lakeville, ten miles east of here, which was razed late Wednesday by a terrific boiler explosion, killing at least nine persons and injuring fifteen others, five of them probably fatally.

A check up of the refinery's payroll disclosed that three employees were unaccounted for and it was feared they had been buried under the debris of the plant which was completely wrecked, causing an estimated loss of $100,000.

Nine bodies had been taken from the ruins.

REPORT A. E. F. BURIAL PLACES IN GOOD SHAPE

Major Green States Work On Cemeteries In France Is Progressing Rapidly

Washington—An official report on the condition of American military cemeteries in Europe submitted by Major H. L. Green, constructing quartermaster, and made public Thursday by the war department shows that "everything is going on most satisfactorily in improvement and construction in the various cemeteries overseas."

"The only deterring factor," the report says, "is the makeup of the French contractor, who does not organize and force his work in the same way as the American contractor. Consequently work is necessarily slow, when much of it is entirely controlled by the season of the year."

Major Green says the improvements to be made in the appearance of the eight cemeteries will cost $1,000,000 and adds that a final concentration of the 50,500 bodies of the soldier dead has been completed.

Conditions respecting the progress of construction work at Suresnes, Aisne-Marne, Somme, St. Mihiel, the Oisne-Aisne and the Meuse Argonne, in France, Brookwood, England, and Flanders field, Belgium, are described as rapidly approaching the point of completion.

TEST 1-MAN RADIO FOR USE ON PLANE

Postal Authorities Request All Who Hear Message To Report

Omaha, Neb.—Testing newly devised one-man radio equipment designed to permit air mail pilots to cooperate in communication with the ground while winging over the stretches of the transcontinental air mail lanes, Elmer Knight will go aloft and every ten minutes repeat a special little speech while ground stations listen in.

Working on a 120 meter wave length, Knight will cruise between Omaha and North Platte and talk in to his apparatus at regular intervals giving a prepared message each time. The trial was to have taken place Wednesday but defective microphones delayed the test.

Postal authorities have requested all who hear Knight to communicate with the Omaha air mail station to determine the distances at which the messages broadcast from the air can be heard.

SEEK IDENTITY OF GREEN BAY SUICIDE

Green Bay—Crawling from behind a pile of ties beside the track of the Ashland limited train, an unidentified young woman committed suicide by throwing herself in front of the approaching train Wednesday night about a mile west of Francis creek.

Search of the scene of the death revealed a shawl upon the pile of ties, upon which the young woman had apparently sat awaiting the coming of the train.

The girl, whose age is estimated to be about 25, was about 5 feet 8 inches in height. Her hair and eyes were dark and she wore a black dress with a large collar. The body was taken to an undertaker's establishment here.

Closing Of Deer Season Shows Nine Casualties

Milwaukee—All trains coming in from the north here Thursday carried extra coaches to accommodate returning big game hunters. Hundreds of returning hunters alighted from the cars but not all had deer. Many others are still on the runways awaiting the close of the season at sundown Thursday night.

Six of the estimated 6,500 hunters who invaded the north woods this year paid for the sport with their lives up to noon Thursday. This number is an increase of two over the last four years.

This year's victims are as follows: Adolph Tietz, Wausau, shot when mistaken for deer near Hurley, Nov. 3.

Merlin Olson, Rib Lake, accidental discharge of rifle, Nov. 12.

William Striebe, mistaken for bear near Goodrich, Nov. 14.

August Schultz, St. Croix Falls, shot for deer near Black River, Nov. 14.

Elmer Hegstrom, 18, mistaken for a deer near Ashland, Nov. 15.

Christopher Peterson, killed near Eagle River, accidental discharge of rifle, Nov. 8.

Three hunters were injured. Herbert Jacne, 23, of Dorchester, was shot in the foot when his gun was accidentally discharged. Archie Webster, 20, Cornell, was mistaken for a deer, and shot through the arm. A farmer near Superior was shot in the neck.

SAYS FORD, NOT MADDOO, CHOICE OF DEMOCRATS

Speaker Quotes Figures To Show Better Chances For Detroit

By Associated Press
St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 22.—With a move afoot to unite the Democratic and Farmer-Labor parties of this state insofar as selection of a presidential candidate is concerned interest in the choice was intensified Wednesday night by the assertion of J. F. Houghan, of Watertown, member of the Democratic state central committee, that Henry Ford and not William Gibbs McAdoo, would be the standard bearer of the Democrats.

Mr. Houghan was jointly endorsed by Democratic and Farmer-Labor proposal conventions Tuesday in Codington, for the post of Democratic state chairman and it was seen that the tendency to cooperate. If mutually acceptable plans on agricultural policy and transportation can be nailed into their common program, leaders of both Democratic and Farmer-Labor parties agreed that unification for the presidential campaign was a possibility.

SEEK COMMON GROUND
Already the Farmer-Laborers of Minnesota and Michigan have conferred with the Democrats to discuss national issues informally with a view to finding a common meeting ground. The Hughes-Co. Democratic proposal convention passed a resolution urging coalition with the third party.

Although it was announced by leading Democrats Tuesday that McAdoo had received an overwhelming delegation to the state proposal convention in Pierre, Dr. J. F. Houghan Wednesday night quoted figures to show that Ford will have 25,955 pledged proposal men at the state Democratic convention, to 2,251 who will vote for McAdoo. Though Ford is believed to be the choice of a large number of Farmer-Labor proposal men, most of whom are uneducated, it is asserted by spokesmen of the party that McAdoo would be an acceptable second choice were an amalgamation to be effected.

BUS QUEEN WINS IN COURT FIGHT

Young Woman Started Line With $800 Savings; Now Owns 15 Motor Coaches

Mason City, Iowa—Victorious over railroads, interurban lines and rural chambers of commerce who opposed her, Miss Helen Schultz, 24-year-old owner of the Red Ball Bus lines, authorized by the Iowa Railroad commission to operate a line between Des Moines and Mason City, is planning an extension of her company.

Starting two years ago with $800 saved from her salary as a railroad clerk, Miss Schultz has increased her line from one second-hand bus to fifteen motor coaches, covering 2,000 miles daily and capable of carrying hundreds of passengers. The decision of the railroad commission ended a fight begun by railroads and interurban lines assisted by farmers' organizations who opposed the granting of a certificate to operate to Miss Schultz's company.

Her employees are all men and she prefers men over 30. "I'd rather deal with men," she says, "I prefer my drivers to be over 30, because they are more trustworthy than younger men. I have little trouble with them. I play square with them and usually they play fair with me. If they don't I fire them."

Gurgling Box Leads To Quiz In Hollywood

Los Angeles, Calif.—Gurgling boxes emanating from a backseat of a car containing only silent film dramas, which led to the arrest Wednesday of Joseph W. Engle, son of the president of the Metro Pictures corporation, Thursday caused the cops to make a sensational investigation of a Federal attempt to send Engle from New York to Hollywood in preparation for Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

Federal authorities declared that the arrival of "a box from New York" had been anticipated in certain Hollywood circles and indicated that other "big boxes" might be seized soon.

COUNCIL ASKS FOR BIDS TO FURNISH CAR TO FIRE CHIEF

Forester Home Association Asks Rebate On Taxes Paid Last January

Steps toward purchasing a new car for the chief of the fire department were taken when the Appleton common council Wednesday evening instructed E. L. Williams, city clerk, to advertise for bids on a high-powered automobile.

This action followed the report of the fire and water committee of which Alderman J. F. Lappen is chairman. It was brought out by both Mr. Lappen and Chief George P. McGowan that only a heavy car with at least 10 horsepower would be serviceable for all-weather use.

Bids for furnishing a roadster or a touring car will be requested. A roadster was recommended by Mr. Lappen because it will be cheaper than a car with a larger wheelbase. If the council desires a car that will carry chemical fire extinguisher equipment, it will have to purchase a touring car. Chief McGowan said that the chief of the fire department's car was not absolutely necessary as the chief's car never goes to a fire alone except in such minor cases as chimney fires.

URGE LARGER HYDRANTS
As another means of improving the fire department's firefighting facilities and retaining Appleton's favorable insurance rates, the Appleton water commission recommended to the council that larger hydrants be installed in the business district. The expense will amount to about $4,000, but the city will realize about $25 on each old hydrant replaced. These could be installed in the outskirts of the city, it was suggested by Mr. Lappen.

An increase in the annual appropriation of $2,000 for the fire field artillery band was asked by the band. The organization desires $2,500 annually in order to operate without incurring a yearly deficit. The request was referred to the finance committee.

Anthony Tomasun of Fond du Lac was awarded the contract for constructing sewers on Front-st. N. W. 4th and Story-st. His bids of $97,200 on Front-st. $333,43 on N. W. 4th-st. and $785,80 on Story-st. were the lowest bids submitted. R. J. Wilson company, Frank Barts and Beaulieu and Oberlin also submitted bids.

WANT TAX REBATE
A rebate on the 1922 tax of $215.49 on the Forester Home in Appleton, submitted by L. Hugo Keller, attorney for the organization. The claim was referred to the judiciary committee and the city attorney.

A back bill of $435 on current for street lights on the campus of Lawrence college was ordered paid to the Wisconsin Traction, Heat, Light & Power company. The commission government had made an agreement with the college to pay for the current. If the college defaulted the agreement, the council Wednesday evening renewed the agreement to pay for the current in ten 60-candle power lights at an approximate rate of $2.0 a month. This agreement was made as a protection to the public crossing through the college campus.

An amendment to the zoning ordinance placing block 1, Newberry addition, and block 60, Fourth ward plat, into the commercial and light manufacturing district to accommodate a new concern that will manufacture automobile and radio accessories was submitted, referred to the ordinance committee and order published.

BORROW $15,000
The general fund having been depleted by the recent loan of $21,000 to the high school, the council voted to borrow $15,000 from the First National bank in anticipation of 1923 taxes.

An application for operating a soft-drink parlor at 719 Appleton-st. submitted by Elmer Dewall, was referred to the police and license committee.

Upon recommendation of the street and bridge committee, the council instructed the engineer to purchase a quantity of gravel for the cinder-dorm of West College-st. and ordered pulp wood deposited on Webster-st. removed. Last month's accounts of $7,025.31 were reported examined by the finance committee and allowed.

Variety Of Delightful Gowns For Evening Wear Found In Stores Here

It makes no difference whether the gown, a pink and white flowered tulle woman who has occasion to wear a gown, with a pretty fichu of silk lace evening gown is slender or of more generous lines and proportions, the new gowns are so lovely and the lines so varied that it would not be difficult to find a gown for the most exacting person. Low waistslines, are of course, predominating.

Velvets, crepes of all sorts, chiffons, and tulle are the favorite materials used this year. Trimmings are of silk lace, gold and silver lace, flower of silk and satin, beads, fur and rhinestones. Buckles of rhinestones are very popular; especially are they used in draping.

As to colors, one might say that almost every shade is used, black and pastel colors being the most popular. Chiffons and crepes take the lighter colors, while the more somber shades are reserved for velvet.

Wreaths of tiny silk flowers in all colors are used to trim many of the dresses. Buckles of rhinestones or some other shimmering metal, tiny ruffles of lace sewed to form medallions, colored ribbons and embroidery in gold and silver help embellish other dresses. Very few indeed are void of any trimming.

A lovely gown is made of embe and chiffon, embe forming the bodice, the foundation of the skirt being composed of strips of rainbow colored chiffon with an overskirt of gray chiffon that blends and softens the colors into a misty splendor.

Another dress that is especially attractive is made of salmon tulle, slightly bouffant, and trimmed with bands of black velvet. Most of the dresses are sleeveless, a few having a slight suggestion of a ruffle or full to take its place.

Lines are either bouffant or silhouetted, a few with shirred skirts, and all long-waisted. Velvets are used for the silhouettes and tulle and crepes for the duffier frocks.

Prices range from $50 to $165. The dress priced at $135 is made of cloth of gold trimmed with gold lace, and is most attractive.

Man 74 Years Old Is "Rejuvenated" In 3 Weeks Without Gland Operation

Kansas Contractor Tells of Wonderful Results Obtained in Test of New Scientific Discovery.

Thomas J. Glascock, 74, well-known Kansas contractor, declares he has virtually been made young again by the recently discovered korex compound, which is pronounced superior to "gland treatments" as an invigorator and revitalizer.

"I feel like I did at 35," says Mr. Glascock, "and seem to be getting stronger every day. During my three weeks' use of the new discovery, pains and weaknesses of many years' standing disappeared almost miraculously. Today I am as vigorous and supple as I was in the prime of life. Furthermore, when I began using the compound, my memory was virtually gone and I was almost blind. Now my mind is clear and active and I can read the finest print without difficulty."

In order to find out whether the results were lasting, Mr. Glascock waited six months before reporting on his test of the discovery. On this point he says:

"Every passing day strengthens my conviction that my restoration is not only complete but permanent. I can't express the happiness this great discovery has brought to me. It has made me 'young' again."

Similar reports are being made almost daily. For instance, D. W. Wood of New Orleans, past 60 years of age, says: "The compound has brought me back to an good, healthy physical condition as I enjoyed at 35. I am apparently as supple as at 25 and my eyesight is better than for years. I would not take $5,000 for what the discovery has done for me."

The compound is a simple home treatment in tablet form, absolutely harmless, yet rated as the quickest and most powerful invigorator known. Acting directly on lower spinal nerve centers and blood vessels, it brings gratifying benefits in a few days, according to thousands who have tested it.

"It is wonderful," writes a resident of Hollister, Cal. "In less than 24 hours you can feel it does the work. It makes one feel young as a young man. I am more than happy and glad upon request. These laboratories are I tried it." Another Californian says: "nationally known and thoroughly reliable. The compound is a world's wonder. I feel like I was about 25 and here I am nearly fifty!"

Peabody, chairman of the program committee, that he will not be able to be here next Sunday evening.

Last Sunday Dr. R. E. Minahan of Green Bay, presented a scholarly address in which he advanced arguments why the Volstead law should be maintained. About 800 persons heard the address. BADGER DEATH RATE IS BELOW FIVE YEAR AVERAGE

A death rate of 8.3 per thousand people was recorded for Wisconsin during July, August and September and was lower than the average rate for the last five years, according to statistics announced by the state board of health. The estimates were based on 6,070 deaths during the quarter.

The records show an increase of 233 in total deaths over the corresponding period last year. Among the important causes of deaths were: tuberculosis, 391; diphtheria, 74; pneumonia, 266; cancer, 589; violence, 553. Deaths from violence were reported as follows: automobiles, 95; accidents, drowning, 86; falls, 68; suicide, 75; railroad, 42; gunshot wounds, 20; electrocution, 12.

The northern section of the state had a death rate of 7.5 per thousand, the central section, 8.3, and the southern counties, 9.3.

CONCRETE ANCIENT HIGHWAY MATERIAL

Romans Build Road Of Concrete More Than 2,000 Years Ago

The first known concrete highway was laid down by the Romans in England, between Westchester and London. Excavations uncovered several sections in excellent condition. Apparently the material was a natural cement mixed with pebbles and worked into a roadbed about twelve inches thick.

The art seems to have been lost for nearly two thousand years, the next example, being in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1872, when some concrete pavements, still in use and good condition, were made.

In our own country, Bellfontaine, Ohio, gets credit for being the first municipality to experiment with cement streets, in 1889. But it is really Wayne County, Michigan, the Detroit automobile factory region, which made the concrete highway known to the nation. This early experiment was in 1907. In 1909 less than half a million square yards of concrete were laid (perhaps fifty miles), while in 1921 more than sixty million square yards were laid (more than 7,000 miles).

One of the great advantages of concrete is the low cost of hauling, its surface being less resistant to traffic effort than any we know. Dynamometer measurements show that the tractive force required to move a wheeled ton of weight on a level road is, for concrete, 32.5 pounds; for asphalt, 77.7 pounds; for brick, 51.3 pounds; and for earth, 134.7 pounds.

A taxi company so situated that it drove one set of cars almost entirely on dirt roads and another set almost entirely on concrete roads, reports that it costs 2.4 cents less per mile to operate the taxis on the cement road than on the dirt roads.

There are 12,000,000 automobiles in the country. If they average the low amount of 3,000 miles each per year, the total miles driven is 36,000,000. At 2 cents a mile saving the sum of $720,000,000 a year could go toward building hard surface roads, which income would build 24,000 miles of permanent highways every year!

STILL EXPLOSION STARTS FIRE; SUE FOR INSURANCE

Special to Post-Crescent
Fond du Lac—Trial began in Circuit court on Wednesday of Francis Lamb's suit against the Oakfield Mutual Fire Insurance company to recover insurance amounting to $1,470 which the plaintiffs claim is due on the barns and other buildings burned on June 13 on the Lamb farm in Oakfield, then occupied by John F. Schaefer.

The insurance company claims that the fire was caused by Schaefer's moonshine operations which were known to Lamb, and that six months previous to the fire Lamb was notified by a new law adopted by the company which rendered it not liable under such circumstances.

Although, according to testimony brought out in cross-examination by the plaintiffs' counsel, the insurance company knew of Schaefer's moonshining, the policy covering the buildings was not canceled until July 1, almost a month after the fire. Lamb's claim was presented on July 5 and disallowed.

COUNCIL ASKS FOR BIDS TO FURNISH CAR TO FIRE CHIEF

Forester Home Association Asks
Rebate On Taxes Paid
Last January

Steps toward purchasing a new car for the chief of the fire department were taken when the Appleton common council Wednesday evening instructed E. L. Williams, city clerk, to advertise for bids on a high-powered automobile.

This action followed the report of the fire and water committee of which Alderman J. F. Lappen is chairman. It was brought out by both Mr. Lappen and Chief George P. McGilgan that only a heavy car with at least 50 horsepower would be serviceable for all-weather use.

Bids for furnishing a reader or a touring car will be requested. A reader was recommended by Mr. Lappen because it will be cheaper than a car with a larger wheelbase. If the council desires a car that will carry chemical fire extinguisher equipment, it will have to purchase a touring car and have it remodeled. Chief McGilgan said in answer to inquiries of the fireman that chemical apparatus on a chief's car is not absolutely necessary as the chief's car never goes to a fire alone except in such minor cases as chimney fires.

URGE LARGER HYDRANTS
As another means of improving the fire department's fire fighting facilities and retaining Appleton's favorable insurance rates, the Appleton water committee recommended to the council that larger hydrants be installed in the business district. The expense will amount to about $4,000, but the city will realize about $25 on each old hydrant replaced. These could be installed in the outskirts of the city, it was suggested by Mr. Lappen.

An increase in the annual appropriation of $2,000 for the 120th Field Artillery band was asked by the band. The organization desires $2,500 annually in order to operate without leaving a yearly deficit. The request was referred to the finance committee.

Anthony Tomasini of Ford du Lac was awarded the contract for constructing sewers on Front-st. Nawa-gast and Story-st. His bids of $397.20 on Front-st. $333.45 on Nawa-gast and $788.40 on Story-st. were the lowest bids submitted. R. J. Wilson company, Frank Barz and Beaulieu and Oberlin also submitted bids.

WANT TAX REBATE
A rebate on the 1922 tax of $215.48 on the Forester home in Appleton was submitted by L. Hugo Keller, attorney for the organization. The claim was referred to the judiciary committee and the city attorney.

A back bill of $458 on current for street lights on the campus of Lawrence college was ordered paid to the Wisconsin Traction, Heat, Light & Power company. The company's government had made an agreement with the college to pay for the current. If the college installed the lights, the council Wednesday evening renewed the agreement to pay for the current in ten 60-candle power lights at an approximate rate of $10 a month. The agreement was made as a protection to the public crossing through the college campus.

An amendment to the zoning ordinance placing block 1, Newberry addition, and block 60, Fourth ward plat, into the commercial and light manufacturing district to accommodate a new concern that will manufacture automobile and radio accessories was submitted, referred to the ordinance committee and order published.

BORROW $15,000
The general fund having been depleted by the recent loan of $21,000 to the high school, the council voted to borrow $15,000 from the First National bank in anticipation of 1924 taxes.

An application for operating a soft-drink parlor at 719 Appleton-st. submitted by Elmer Dewall, was referred to the police and license committee. Upon recommendation of the street and bridge committee, the council instructed the engineer to purchase a quantity of tarria, ordered the cleaning of West College-ave and ordered pulp wood deposited on Newberry-st removed. Last month's accounts of $7,025.31 were reported examined by the finance committee and allowed.

DRESS DOLLS TO LOOK LIKE PORTIA AND SHYLOCK

Could you set out to dress a doll to look like you picture the character in a book? Did you ever try it? Appleton high school students have and found it very interesting. They took as their subjects, the characters in "The Merchant of Venice" and the results were surprising in their ingenuity. The characters were made by the English classes taught by Miss Letha Dambruck.

Variety Of Delightful Gowns For Evening Wear Found In Stores Here

It makes no difference whether the woman who has occasion to wear evening gowns is slender or of more generous lines and proportions, the new gowns are so lovely and the lines so varied that it would not be difficult to find a gown for the most exacting person. Low waistlines, are of course, predominating.

Velvets, crepes of all sorts, chiffons and tulle are the favorite materials used this year. Trimmings are of silk lace, gold and silver lace, flower of silk and satin, beads, fur and rhinestones. Buckles of rhinestones are very popular; especially are they used in drapings.

As to colors, one might say that almost every shade is used, black and pastel colors being the most popular. Chiffons and crepes take the lighter colors, while the more somber shades are reserved for velvet.

Wreaths of tiny silk flowers in all colors are used to trim many of the dresses. Buckles of rhinestones or some other shimmering metal, tiny ruffles of lace sewed to form medallions, colored ribbons and embroidery in gold and silver help embellish other dresses. Very few indeed are void of any trimmings.

A lovely gown is made of embe and chiffon, embe forming the bodice, the foundation of the skirt being composed of strips of rainbow colored chiffon with an overshirt of grey chiffon that blends and softens the colors into a misty splendor.

Another dress that is especially attractive is made of salmon tulle, slightly bouffant, and trimmed with bands of black velvet. Most of the dresses are sleeveless, a few having a slight suggestion of a ruffle or full to take its place.

Lines are either bouffant or silhouette, a few with shirred skirts and all long-waisted. Velvets are used for the silhouettes and tulle and crepes for the duffier frocks.

Prices range from $50 to $195. The dress priced at $135 is made of cloth of gold trimmed with gold lace, and is most attractive.

CHICAGO ATTORNEY- IS FORUM SPEAKER

Attorney W. D. Bartholmew
Speaks Sunday Night On Volstead Law

Warren D. Bartholmew, Chicago attorney will take the place of David S. Rose, Milwaukee, at the People's forum next Sunday evening when arguments for liberalizing the Volstead law will be advanced. Mr. Rose was to have spoken Sunday evening but illness and piled-up work made it impossible for him to come and he has notified Dr. H. E. Peabody, chairman of the program committee, that he will not be able to be here next Sunday evening.

Last Sunday Dr. R. E. Mahan of Green Bay, presented a scholarly address in which he advanced arguments why the Volstead law should be maintained. About 500 persons heard the address. It is believed that a number equally as large will hear Mr. Bartholmew attack the Volstead law and argue that it be made more liberal.

From this purebred foundation, Mr. Roepcke has built a herd of satisfactory producers and prizewinners.

BUILD $60,000 SISTERS' HOME HERE IN SPRING

St. Joseph Congregation Completes Plans For Housing School Teachers

Construction on the new $60,000 home for the Sisters of Notre Dame who teach at St. Joseph school will be commenced in the spring, according to Father Basil Gummertmann, pastor of St. Joseph church. The home will be located north of the residence of A. Peerenboom at 900 Highest and will have accommodations for 24 nuns.

Contracts for the new building will be awarded in January or February in order that the work may begin early in the spring. The house will be of brick and stucco construction with the entrance from Highest at the west side of the building. The structure's dimensions will be 50 by 90 ft.

The large community room for the sisters will be on the first floor overlooking Jones' park. Other rooms which have been provided for the first floor are a chapel, two parlors, music rooms and sewing rooms for the sisters. The dining room and kitchen will be in the basement and there will also be a special little breakfast room overlooking the park. The laundry and ironing and drying rooms are to be at the west end of the basement. It is possible that an oil heating system will be installed. The second floor will have the sleeping rooms for the sisters.

Every effort has been made to make the home for the nuns as pleasant as possible. Several large porches from which there will be interesting views of the park will be built.

BADGER DEATH RATE IS BELOW FIVE YEAR AVERAGE

A death rate of 8.9 per thousand and people was recorded for Wisconsin during July, August and September and was lower than the average rate for the last five years, according to statistics announced by the state board of health. The estimates were based on 6,070 deaths during the quarter.

The records show an increase of 238 in total deaths over the corresponding period last year. Among the important causes of deaths were: tuberculosis, 321; diphtheria, 74; pneumonia, 265; cancer 589; violence, 553. CONCRETE ANCIENT HIGHWAY MATERIAL

The first known concrete highway was laid down by the Romans in England, between Westchester and London. Excavations uncovered several sections in excellent condition. Apparently the material was a natural cement mixed with pebbles and worked into a roadbed about twelve inches thick.

The art seems to have been lost for nearly two thousand years, the next example, being in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1872, when some concrete pavements, still in use and good condition, were made.

In our own country, Bellfontaine, Ohio, gets credit for being the first municipality to experiment with cement streets, in 1893. But it is really Wayne County, Michigan, the Detroit automobile factory region, which made the concrete highway known to the nation. This early experiment was in 1907. In 1909 less than half a million square yards of concrete were laid (perhaps fifty miles) while in 1921 more than sixty million square yards were laid (more than 7,000 miles).

One of the great advantages of concrete is the low cost of hauling, its surface being less resistant to traffic effort than any we know. Dynamometer measurements show that the tractive force required to move a wheeled ton of weight on a level road are, for concrete, 32.5 pounds; for asphalt, 77.7 pounds; for brick, 51.3 pounds; and for earth, 134.7 pounds.

A taxi company so situated that it drove one set of cars almost entirely on dirt roads and another set almost entirely on concrete roads, reports that it costs 2.4 cents less per mile to operate the taxis on the cement road than on the dirt roads.

There are 12,000,000 automobiles in the country. If they average the low amount of 3,000 miles each per year, the total miles driven is 36,000,000,000. At 2 cents a mile saving the sum of $720,000,000 a year could go towards building hard surface roads, which income would build 24,000 miles of permanent highways every year.

STILL EXPLOSION STARTS FIRE; SUE FOR INSURANCE

Special to Post-Crescent
Fond du Lac—Trial began in Circuit court on Wednesday of Francis Lamb's suit against the Oakfield Mutual Fire Insurance company to recover insurance amounting to $1,470 which the plaintiffs claim is due on the barns and other buildings burned on June 13 on the Lamb farm in Oakfield, then occupied by John F. Schaefer.

The insurance company claims that the fire was caused by Schaefer's moonshine operations which were known to Lamb, and that six months previous to the fire Lamb was notified by a new law adopted by the company which rendered it not liable under such circumstances.

Although, according to testimony brought out in cross-examination by the plaintiffs' counsel, the insurance company knew of Schaefer's moonshine, the policy covering the buildings was not canceled until July 7, almost a month after the fire. Lamb's claim was presented on July 5 and disallowed.

LIVING LANGUAGES AND DEAD
Among American and English literary scholars quite a discussion is raging on the old subject of the standardization of the English language. Mr. Frank H. Vizetelly managing editor of the New Standard Dictionary, renders what seems to be the most satisfactory verdict, and the one which should be conclusive.
Mr. Vizetelly decides that it is possible to standardize the English language in theory, but not in practice. The nearest that we can come to standardization is to use the spelling pronunciation and meanings which are used among the best informed and most cultured. We should reach this general standard. This is the best that we can do.
It is impossible to standardize a living tongue. New words are made week after week. Meanings change with use, or with progress. So do pronunciations. Spelling conforms, as does pronunciation, largely to the origin and meaning of words. A language can be standardized only after it is dead. As long as a language is living, it is changing. It keeps up with humanity and life. Language, written and spoken, is humanity and life. Basically, the English language is standardized, but only in the sense and to the extent explained by Mr. Vizetelly. It is standardized theoretically. But it cannot be standardized thoroughly in practice, as it is undergoing change.

ENORMOUS HOLIDAY TRADE
Reports from all the big commercial centers conclusively signify that this year's holiday trade may attain the peak in volume, or, at any rate, will be almost of record proportion. Shopping has begun early everywhere, and merchants are displaying larger and more diversified stocks than ever before.
Buyers are more thoughtful and systematic than they used to be. They have learned that they have the advantage of taking the pick of the stocks and obtaining the most satisfactory bargains by making their purchases early in the season. Holiday retail buying is pretty brisk already. Merchants who exhibit holiday goods are selling them. The people have plenty of money, and they are spending it for both useful things and luxuries. It is a wise idea to shop early in the season.

LEADERS IN PUBLIC LIFE
Mr. Marion Leroy Burton, president of the University of Michigan, made two particularly strong and interesting points, in a recent lecture, on politics and politicians. Voters and office-seekers should think of them repeatedly during the next campaign and in the next election.
Here is Point No. 1: "Let us take politics out of politics. Let us get men who will stay put." Point No. 2 is this: "The first requisite for a public servant is not the desire to know what the people want, but the purpose to help people want what they ought to have."
There is a specious and more or less effective contradiction which is frequently made by professional vote-seekers when the second point is mentioned. The men who are running for office cleverly popularize themselves by saying that they are not supposed to have opinions of their own, but, when elected, will obey the will of the people, of their constituents. They do not represent themselves, they say, humbly; but, they say, bombastically, they are the people's servants.

Dr. Burton's obliteration of this contention is his point one. "Let us get men who will stay put." Let us have men whose main object is to serve the best interests of the public, not men whose sole object is to procure and hold jobs. "Let us take politics out of politics." Too many of the men who occupy high offices in nation and state are followers. There are, as Dr. Burton states, too few leaders.
The voters lost their respect for statesmen and politicians who are mere followers, and this is why there have been so many surprises in elections in recent years. Citizens mistrust office-seekers and office-holders who keep their ears to the ground, and whose consciences blow right or left, up or down, as sounds vary.

MRS. ANNA LERNER
Several senators, among them LaFollette of Wisconsin and Norris of Nebraska, are taking steps to compel the state department to allow Mrs. Anna Lerner to reenter the United States and return to her husband and family in Philadelphia. LaFollette, who has just come home from Russia, has first hand information in her defense. Norris says he will ask the American Civil Liberties union to investigate her case thoroughly.
Mr. Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., son and secretary of the Wisconsin senator, intimates strongly that the state department is unjust to the woman, who is but twenty years of age. She looks like a child, he says, and it is feared that she will be unable, on account of ill-health, to live through the winter in Russia. The state department bars the young woman, wife of an American veteran of the World war from the United States, yet refuses to give any reason for this severe action. She has waited in Russia five months for a passport. Soon after she had applied for it she was arrested in Riga in one of those wholesale raids, due to counter-intelligence, which are not unusual there.
The state department puts the responsibility, by implication, on the department of justice, while the latter passes responsibility to the state department by disavowing knowledge of the case. The government must have hallucinations as to its jeopardy from radicalism when it fears a frail, twenty-year-old woman, wife of an American ex-soldier, and goes to the extreme of declining to explain its action. There is more danger in the government's course than there would be from a thousand Anna Lerner, though they were all Soviets.

WOOD CROP
One-third of the forest land in the United States is on farms. These farm woodlands yield only a small proportion of the wood they should produce. An enormous waste of possibilities, according to the report of the forestry committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Research and experiment are necessary to teach the farmer how to make the most of his woodland, the report adds.
Firewood is one of the important crops. In 1920, an average of 10.6 cords of wood, or a total of 68,244,000 cords, were burned on the farms of the country. Piled continuously, this would reach four times around the world. The total production cord wood during the year, which includes wood burned on farms and that sold by farmers to city dwellers, is estimated at not less than 90,000,000 cords. The average farm value in 1920 was $5.07 a cord.

Farmers in the South are the heaviest fuel-wood users. North Carolina and Tennessee lead with an average of 17 cords used on each farm during the year. The farms of Vermont, Virginia and Arkansas averaged 15 cords; Kentucky 14 cords; Michigan, Georgia and Alabama, 13 cords; Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Wisconsin, South Carolina and Missouri, 12 cords.
With the coal situation what it is, it would seem the farmer with a good wood crop coming along every year will be a very wise man.

The world gets faster. A man can get married in one minute or drink himself to death in half a minute.

MOISTURE AND COMFORT IN VICIOUS CIRCLES
It is generally known that a cold damp atmosphere is much more chilling or penetrating, feels much colder, than a cold dry atmosphere. Likewise a hot moist climate is harder to bear than a hot dry climate. The thermometer alone doesn't tell how severe the cold.
The relative humidity, the comparative quantity of water vapor in the air has much to do with physical comfort and efficiency. Relative humidity is expressed in per centum. For instance, air with 70 per cent humidity holds seven tenths as much moisture as it is capable of holding. The higher the temperature of the air the more moisture it is capable of holding.
Outdoor air at a relative humidity of 50 per cent will have a relative humidity of only 3 per cent when heated to 70 degrees F. This is drier than the driest climate known. A dry climate is seldom less than 30 per cent humid. So, when we think of a tropical atmosphere, and of pneumonia and the other respiratory infections which are tropical diseases, we must think of the great indoors of the average American home. Too warm, too dry. Too bad.
Excessive dryness of the air in our houses, shops and other enclosures in the winter time causes excessive evaporation from the skin and mucous membranes, and this gives rise to the sense of chilliness which prompts us to turn on still more heat, causing still worse dryness, calling for still more heat, etcetera, round and round and round, one of those vicious circles in which a hygienist delights.
Devices for supplying adequate moisture to the heated air of buildings are fairly practical for large buildings but too expensive for private homes. Such makeshifts as water boxes in furnaces, or evaporation attachments for radiators are of little or no value for this purpose.
Growing plants in porous pots (not glazed or metal jar) are much more effective, if kept in the room in numbers. Large palms, ferns or other plants tend to relieve and prevent "catarrh," keeping the atmosphere fairly moist.
The simplest way to keep the humidity of the indoor climate is to keep the temperature always below 65 degrees Fahrenheit. At 65 to 67 degrees the relative humidity is generally about right.
Catarrh is caused by keeping good and warm. People with a catarrhal tendency usually try to keep good and warm. This of course, aggravates the catarrhal conditions, and this, in turn, well, another eddy. Beats all how you drift into these vicious circles whenever you try to discuss hygiene!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Vague On Migraine
"Read your articles first thing every day: in fact I subscribe to the paper in order to have your articles. My trouble is migraine, of which you recently wrote interestingly. The doctors I have been to are quite vague on the subject of migraine. Have lost the particular article in which you told of prolonged use of castor oil in small doses. What doses and how long. What really causes migraine? I have had these attacks since the age of 15 years. I am now 31 years old. I wear glasses two days a month."
Answer: "The castor oil treatment, which some good doctors have praised, calls for a dose of perhaps 5 to 10 drops of castor oil three times a day over a period of six months. Reduce the size, not the frequency of the doses if the castor oil proves too laxative. Castor oil in soft capsules may be had at the druggist's, if you prefer.
After the Operation
I have been using a lotion for after shaving and for chapped hands, made from a formula printed last winter. Since I have mislaid the formula, would appreciate it if you will reprint it. It contained some kind of chips, and was the finest thing I had ever found.—I. A.
Answer: "It is an old domestic recipe for a lotion intended to prevent and relieve chapping, redness and roughness of the skin, many readers have reported satisfaction from this use as a lotion for the face after shaving. The recipe is:
Boric acid 3 drams
Glycerin 4 drams
Tragacanth 80 grains
Soft water 1 pint
Tragacanth in shavings, chips or scales is less likely to be adulterated than the powder. Boil slowly, constantly stirring, until a clear fluid is obtained; add enough water to make up for evaporation. The result should be a clear thin jelly, not too thick to pour from a bottle. Use a few drops on the skin two or three times a day, after washing and before the skin has dried thoroughly. A drop of two of any perfume or scent may be added if desired.

Oriental Pupil Removes Shoes, Shouts Lessons
(From The Pathfinder.)
The Chinese school boy looks like a small edition of his august father in his cotton breeches and long gown reaching nearly to his feet. He makes a great deal of noise in pursuit of his education. Only boys are allowed in his school because girls must stay at home and help their mothers keep house. The Chinese teacher has the idea that a boy cannot be doing his duty by his books if he is not yelling out his lessons at the top of his lungs.
So when Johnny Chinaman has yelled to his satisfaction he marches up to teacher, hands her his book (which to our eyes looks like a parallel tracks of a chicken) and tells the whole class everything he knows about his lesson. His arithmetic he learns by using a frame containing moveable balls—just like the counting balls you see Chinese laundrymen use to add up your bill, and not unlike the colored balls and frame used in the modern American kindergarten. Johnny Chinaman has no pens or pencils and draws his hundreds of characters with a small brush dipped in ink, which he makes himself by breaking up a cake of India ink in water.
---TAKES SHOES OFF---
Though the Japanese boy goes to well organized schools like ours, he, too, has his difficulties. He must learn the 47 letters in the Japanese alphabet instead of 26 in the English language. He also takes off his shoes before he enters the schoolhouse, and when teacher come in he must bow his head nearly down to the ground and draw in his breath. This is little Yooki-san's way of saying "Good morning, teacher" and the teacher bows in response to the greeting. Then Yooki-san sits on the floor and uses his knees as a writing desk. In writing he makes his letters with a little brush very much like his Chinese cousin; he writes them from the top to the bottom of the page instead of across the paper as we do.
In Arabia and northern Africa the little boys sit cross-legged on the sand around a tumbled teacher who pounds the earth with a long stick to make the pupils keep time as they recite in unison their verses from the Koran. The Koran, the religious book that is their Bible, is the only textbook used, and they learn it bit by bit and recite it together in sing-song fashion, swaying their bodies in accompaniment. Often the teacher is blind, but his unfailing ear enables him to tell just when a boy is not keeping up with the others and to give him the benefit of a stout rod. All the rest of the knowledge the desert boys get they must learn at home. Their fathers must teach them to ride their ponies and to shoot straight.
---PERSIAN WOMEN ILLITERATE---
Persian boys learn the Koran, too, as about 95 per cent of the people of that country are Mohammedans. Often a class can be seen sitting on the floor of the porch of some building hundreds of years old droning out their lessons. About 95 per cent of the Persian women are illiterate; it is only within recent years that they have been allowed to attend schools at all.
Parents of children of India do not have to worry much about them after they have become of school age. Classes begin at 6 in the morning. At 9 o'clock there is an hour for breakfast and at 2 o'clock an hour for dinner. Then the pupils go back to school until evening. Very often they have no desks or pencils or paper. The teachers write the letters in the sand on the floor and each boy copies the letters on the sand before him.

MATT SCHMIDT & SON
TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

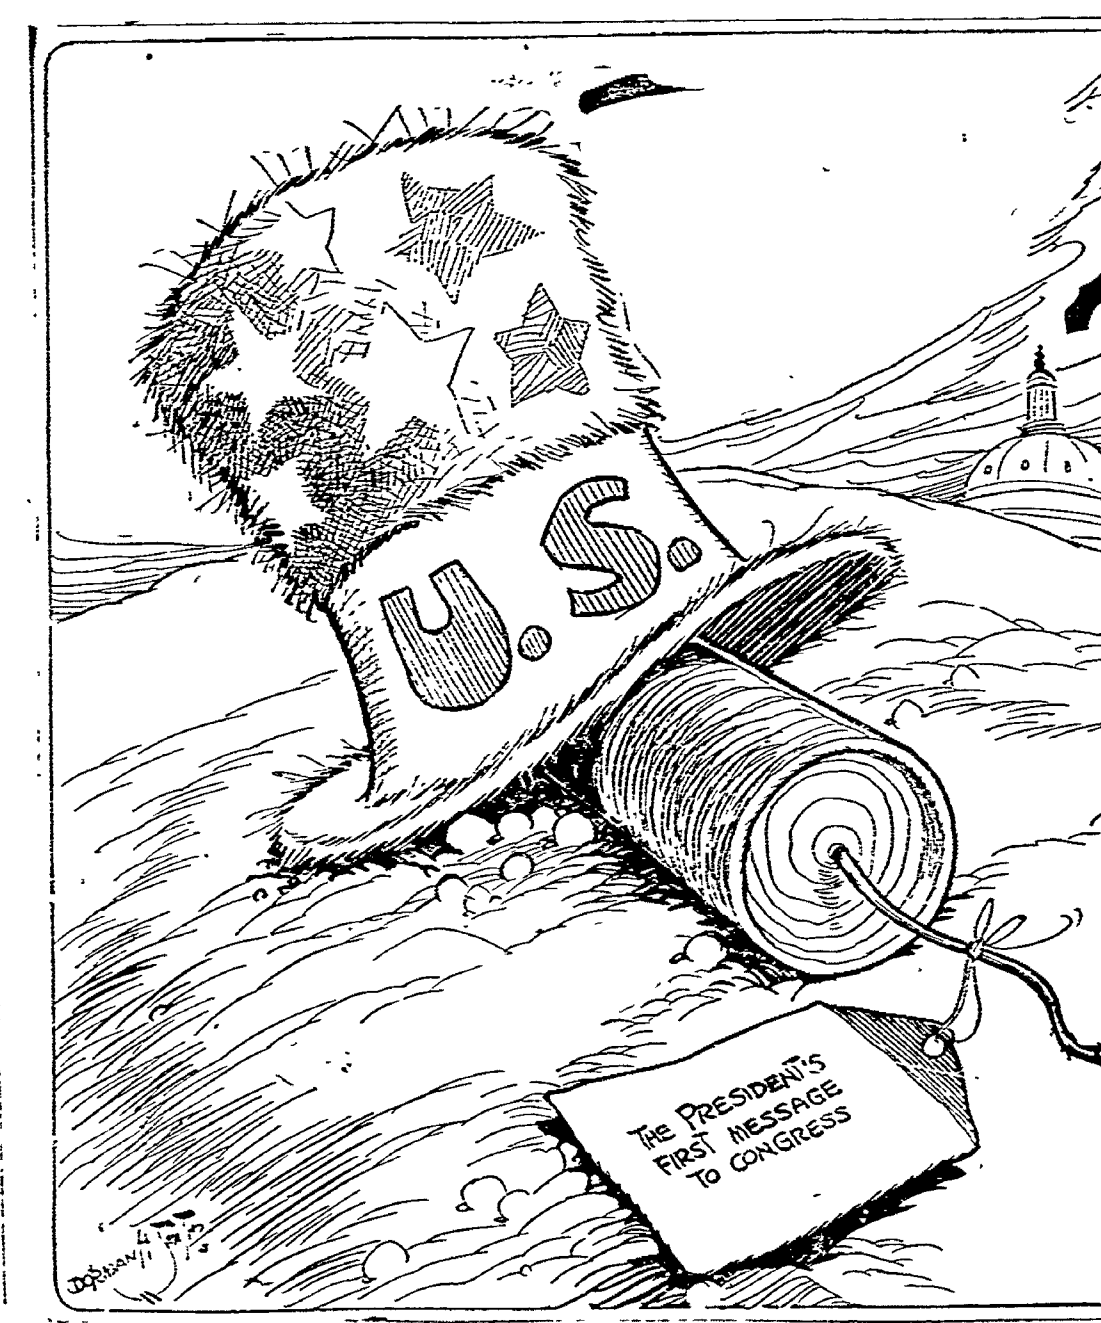

Feed Wall-St And Make Money

(Richard Spillane, in Forbes Magazine.)
Ordinarily young men just out of college who go to Wall Street look for jobs as bond salesmen, brokers, clerks or bank attaches preliminary to becoming leaders of finance. May be Johnnie Jones and Jimmy Johnson (these names will serve as well as the real ones) meant to follow the custom, but the market being dull there were no jobs for them.
"Jim," said Johnnie Jones, "there's only one active business that I can discover in Wall Street in which there are no wide fluctuations. I'm for going into it."
"What's the business?" inquired Mr. Johnson.
"Eats." Mr. Jones replied. "These people eat whether the market is good or bad or indifferent. Emerson or Herbert Hubbard or somebody said that if you made a mousetrap better than any other in the world the people would beat a broad path to your door even if you were in a wilderness. I can fabricate sandwiches that would make a dyspeptic's mouth water. You have a little money. Let's rent a place and see if we can't beat this Wall Street game by the sandwich route."
They did. Wall Street has one meal a day—at noon. Usually luncheon means only a few minutes of the market is lively. The midday consumption of sandwiches in Wall Street is larger per capita perhaps than anywhere else in America. The Jones-Johnson sandwiches were excellent—couldn't be better. The buffet of the two college boys, was a success from the start. Where could you get better meats, breads, coffee or pastry?
Recently they opened a second establishment, this one in the lower Wall Street district.
Their prices are not low, but everything they serve is exquisite. Their places are furnished simply, but are immaculately clean.

Speeches Wear On President

(George B. Christian, Jr., in The Saturday Evening Post.)
It is unquestionably a part of the president's duty to make known to his fellow citizens the aims for which he strives, the necessities which prompt his course, the reasons which inspire his policies. It is essential to the success of any administration that the great mass of the people shall have a clear conception of the president's motives, a complete realization of that which he has achieved and keen perception of that which he seeks to obtain.
But it should be a fundamental principle of patriotism that the president's fellow citizens should not express or even countenance insistent demands that he address their respective communities or gatherings for the gratification of those communities or the satisfaction of local ambitions. In a word, the president should be left wholly free to determine when and where the best interests of the country demand that he shall appear and speak. Those interests demand that he should be permitted complete freedom from the necessity of disappointing his fellow citizens by declining invitations to appear among them.
So extensive are the facilities of the press, so thoroughly is the White house covered, to borrow a journalistic phrase, that there exists little or no necessity for the president to tour the country and expound his views from public rostrums; and only on these rare occasions when the existence of such a necessity appeals to him should the burden of leaving the national capital to make public speeches—or even of attending and addressing conventions held in the capital—be imposed upon his strength.
Occasions may arise, as was the case when Mr. Harding determined to visit Alaska, when the president may decide of his own motion that it is his duty to visit some section of the United States, but even on such occasions he should be left free from importunities personally to appear before and to address gatherings of his fellow citizens.
The burdens of his office have become too great to permit the continuance of a custom which may in the past have afforded much pleasure to both the president and his auditors. That custom should now give place to conservation of the president's physical welfare.

Two Styles For Pleats

The very newest vagaries of pleats are shown in these two fashions for fall. One has a brand new kind of apron tunic—three pleated flounces. The other has a full-length pleated front panel and wide loose-pleated sleeves. Besides being fashionable these dresses are most practical, too, since the pleats have been cleverly placed where there is least chance of their coming quickly unpressed. One of the silk crepe in golden brown or bottle green would be most attractive for either model.

Few Authors Of Note Come To Appleton

Sophie Kerr's Visit Here Friday Night Is Rare Opportunity To Meet Writer

Not since Edna Ferber read "The Gay Old Dog" at Lawrence Memorial chapel has an Appleton audience had an opportunity to hear a noted writer read from her own stories. Every possible kind of entertainment is offered to Appleton people, but it is very seldom so popular an author as Sophie Kerr comes to Appleton. She will read from her own stories at Lawrence Memorial chapel on Friday evening. Tickets may be secured at the door.

Miss Kerr's stories have appeared in practically every magazine and she has thousands of readers in every community. Until a short time ago she was managing editor of the Woman's Home Companion but now prefers to spend all her time in writing. Miss Kerr is undoubtedly one of the most interesting of writers to meet.

Few authors of note have been in Appleton in the last few years. They included only Appleton's own protégé, Edna Ferber, Zona Gale, William Butler Yeats, the famous Irish poet, Rabindranath Tagore, the Indian poet and Rachel Lindsay, the American writer of free verse. Miss Kerr's stories, have a greater human appeal to the readers of popular fiction than any of these. The public is cordially invited to be present. Miss Mary Louise Brown, dean of women of Lawrence college, will introduce the speaker.

400 ENTERTAINED FOR TWO HOURS BY PRETTY OPERETTA

"In The Garden Of The Shah"
Pleases Audience—Repeated Tonight

Kaukauna—Approximately 400 persons were entertained for two hours Wednesday evening in the auditorium when the musical comedy, "In The Garden of the Shah" was presented for the second time by graduates of the high school. The first performance was given Wednesday afternoon for school children. The final presentation of the Persian romance will be at 8:15 Thursday evening.

While all members of the cast created a favorable impression on the audience, Miss Olive Jacobson, as the old nurse, Nowebah and Harold K. Dertus as "Sam", the colored boy servant made an instantaneous hit and probably were the favorite characters of the production. Sam, who was body servant to Ted Harding and Billy Cummings, American mining engineers, was pursued relentlessly by his affectionate Sam's desire to improve himself in the end, the colored gentleman from Texas resigned at last to the charms of the maiden lady.

The appearance of two American mining engineers in the Shah's harem created quite a disturbance and marked the beginning of a double romance. Miss Cecelia Graf as "Zohdah", the leading lady of the operetta and Miss Laura Mau as "Lohlah", the Persian girl's friend and confidant, sang especially well. Zohdah's solo "For You Are Love" upon the beginning of the second act, was among the best vocal numbers of the evening. The Honey Bee song with Lohlah, Billy and the chorus also was well received.

The Shah, in whose garden the action takes place, was J. Fred Mueller. Elmer Grimmer acted in the role of the Shah, the villain of the play, who attempts to gain Zohdah's hand in marriage, along with a generous portion of the Shah's rich gold mine before he departed for parts unknown. The Shah sang a solo entitled "For I Am King."

The corps of assistants behind scenes who tended curtains and lighting included Dr. William Burnett, Gordon VanLeusen, Frank Jirkowicz and Mark Griffin. Jirkowicz, who prepared most of the elaborate scenery for the operetta, became ill during the afternoon program and was removed to his home.

THERESA. MAYVILLE RAIDED BY BANDITS

Postoffices in Two Badger Cities Robbed—Find Obscure Clews

Mayville—Burglars who blew the safe in the postoffice at Theresa, six miles from here, early on Wednesday, and then robbed the Mayville postoffice, where plans to blow the safe were apparently frustrated by "something which happened to frighten the raiders away," were believed by officials on Wednesday to be the same who on Nov. 19, robbed the postoffice at Clinton, Wis., and also blew the safe in a garage at Darlen.

The Theresa safe, which was blown from a cement wall in which it was set, yielded loot of $500 in stamps and $50 cash. Stamps and cash aggregating $500 were secured when a cabinet was jimmied in the postoffice here.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lacy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

Some Figures Which May Interest You

This advertisement is a report of progress. It is addressed to our big army of Wisconsin investors, and to the million Wisconsin folks served directly or indirectly by Milwaukee Electric and its associated Companies. It gives you some interesting figures on the current sale of Milwaukee Electric 7% cumulative preferred shares. It is written in the belief that you are all just as fairly interested in the financing of the growth of the community's private owned public services, as you are in the financing of those public services which are publicly owned and supported partly or wholly by taxation.

Well, we began selling a $3,000,000 issue of these shares, with the State's approval, on May 1, 1923. On the same day we placed on sale a $500,000 State-approved issue of Wisconsin Gas & Electric Co. 7% participating preferred shares. Price of both issues was, at all ways, $100 a share. The Wisconsin Gas & Electric shares were sold out early in August to a thousand buyers, mostly residents of cities and towns served by that Company.

In 158 business days—May 1 to November 10—investors living in 168 Wisconsin cities and towns, and on farms, bought $1,975,000 of the Milwaukee Electric shares; investors in 53 cities and towns in other states (some of them as far away as the Philippine Islands but evidently readers of Wisconsin newspapers), bought $61,300 worth—a total of $2,036,300, a daily average of $12,692. Daily average, both issues $16,058.

There were 3,711 individual and joint buyers of the shares in the 158 business days, a daily average of a little over 22 buyers. Of the 3,711 buyers, 2,553 live in Milwaukee, several hundred more in Milwaukee's suburban cities and villages.

Each year of our home financing, more women buy an interest in the business. Our women investors as a rule favor this business because of its long record of continuous growth and prosperity; because it is a necessary and permanent business, and because strict State regulation of all its affairs, under a State policy protecting investors equally with customers and employees, makes it safer than most other investments. Of the 3,711 who became preferred share owners of the business between May 1 and November 10, 1923, 1,715 were women, 1,990 men.

Of the 3,711 buyers, 2,379 paid $1,449.50 cash for their shares; 1,039 bought $587,400 worth on monthly payments—and our six years' experience selling our securities here at home on monthly payments proves more than 90 per cent of those who buy this way will finish their payments, and so get 7% on every dollar invested from the start. Any who do not complete payments get their money back, every dollar of it, on demand, and are that much ahead, but get no interest.

The average investment of the 2,379 who paid all cash was $542; of the 1,039 who bought on payments of $5 down and $5 a month per share, $441.

This is a safe way to buy permanent and really dependable income, and it is a good way to form the saving habit and get 7% on your savings while doing it. We expect the remainder of the $3,000,000 issue of Milwaukee Electric shares will be sold out within the next two or three months. If you are interested, we shall be glad to have you come in and talk it over with us, or let us send a salesman or a Circular with full details. Mail orders filled by registered letter.

REVISION WOULD NOT CUT 1924 TAX

this is what is known as "the lump session," so there is no limitation of March 4, to hasten consideration of anything.

Should the bill be passed in the spring or summer, however, the business world will be able to figure on the amount of its 1924 income or profits that must be paid ultimately to the government and the expectation is that if taxes have been reduced for the year 1924 there will be a spur in business because of the release of capital for productive enterprise which at present is hampered by prohibitive tax rates.

FISCAL YEAR IS BASIS

Congress could not very well pass a law which would alter the payment made by the taxpayers next March even if both houses got down to work in December and made an extraordinary record for speed. The government's financial affairs are managed on a fiscal year basis that is from June 30 of one year to June 30 of the next. Taxpayers on the other hand are obliged to pay their taxes with the calendar year from Jan. 1, to Jan. 1. Already the money that has to be spent by the government from Jan. 1, to June 30, next, has been appropriated by congress out of receipts expected to be received next March and June from the taxpayers who are paying their bills on incomes received during 1923.

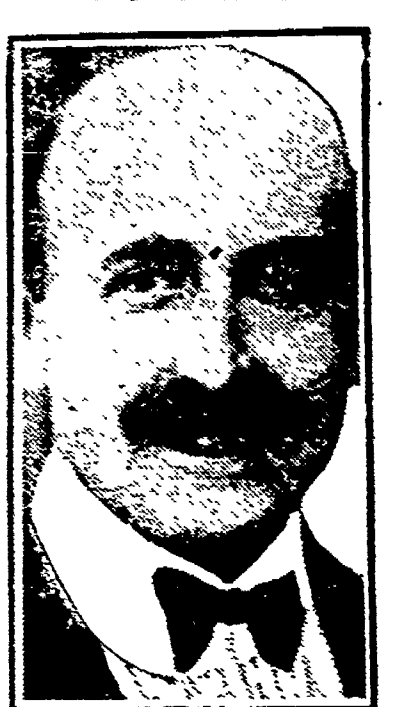

So is it that at present the estimates are being prepared for Congress for the expenses of the government running from June 30, next, to June 30, 1925, and Congress will go ahead with its appropriations so as to have them ready before June 30, next, when the new fiscal year begins. Congress must act on the theory that a certain amount of revenue will be available and already the Mellon plan contemplates a certain budget for government expenditure after June 30 based on the new plan of taxation.

That's why what the taxpayers pay next March and in quarterly installments next year cannot be revised even if congress wished to do so, unless congress wanted to run a deficit. The money which is due from the taxpayers next March and thereafter during 1924 has already been authorized for expenditure in various ways and much of it has also been spent.

DOG THIEF GETS LOIT

As I was walking down one of the main streets in Green Bay Wednesday afternoon, I noticed several people stopping and looking down an alley near a meat market. When I got near enough I saw a dog running up the road with a large string or weaver in his mouth. As he came out into the main street several youngsters called out "Hot dog."

G. A. F.

key was elected president of the club. Dr. G. E. Vassar, vice president and Dr. H. R. Pratt, secretary-treasurer. The publicity committee includes Drs. P. C. Babcock, W. M. Edgar and H. R. Pratt, while the program committee includes Drs. P. C. Babcock, L. H. Moore and L. J. Herrick. Mr. Harter has done a great deal to make known the effect of diet on the entire system. He is recognized as an expert on the subject. If there is found to be an interest in a lecture of the physician outside the dental and medical circles, it is possible that a public lecture will be arranged.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficulty breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with a cough and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any drug-gist can supply you with 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. If desired, this recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchia tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds. There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

LITTLE CHANGE IN CONDITION OF BOY HURT IN H. S. GYM

Vertebra Fractured In First Injury In Six Years During Gymnasium Period

The condition of Charles Nemachek who was paralyzed as the result of a fall on Tuesday afternoon was reported to be unchanged on Thursday. The fall caused a fracture of the fifth cervical vertebra and an injury to the spinal cord. His injury was severe and the doctors say that it will take a long time before the spinal cord can be completely repaired.

The young man who was a freshman in the high school fell from a horse in the gymnasium on Tuesday. This is the first time in more than six years that there has been a serious injury during the gymnasium period in the high school. A boy was injured last year when he was pulled from the railing of the balcony where the students had been forbidden to go. This was not during the regular supervised work. The Nemachek boy slipped from the horse when he lost his grip as he was going over the apparatus.

Edward Herman of Appleton has purchased a lot on Rogers ave and expects to erect a house there soon.

BLAME MIDWEST
MEN FOR NUDITY
ON EASTERN STAGE

Chorus Girls Play Disrobed Parts For Bonus, Not Because They Like Them

New York — Broadway's disrobed shows, for the epidemic of which New Yorkers are blaming Mid-Western taste, hold little charm for the girls who are in them.

They do not play the parts because they like them. They play them because of the extra bonus they receive in their pay envelopes.

And their advice to girls who want to leave home to join the chorus is: "Don't."

For if they do go, they must be prepared to forego most of the pet dreams of life on the stage.

Take this as the word of Azeda Charokine, pretty Egyptian maiden, who came half-way around the world to be a chorus girl on Broadway.

She is now playing the part of an artist's model in a show that has shocked even blase New York.

But she does not stand undraped to the waist each night before the peering gaze of an interested audience because she really likes it. She consents to this display for the extra bill in her pay envelope—a bonus for an extravagant presentation of graceful curves—only because she is the sole support of a widowed mother with whom as she fled as a refugee from her native home on the Nile.

Girls doing "specialties" are paid from $5 to $25 a week additional.

"That's the only reason they do it," said Azeda, with a demure smile.

Dressed in informal garb, as modest raiment as ever clad a convent student, Miss Charokine went to the back alley stage door to wait for her mother.

On the stage—in the glaring light of spot-lights—she said as she waited, "girls often have to do things they really dislike. But it is part of the profession."

"Once you are in it, it is almost too late to turn back."

"I wouldn't advise any girl to leave home to go on the stage. Mother objected to my appearance at first. But we needed money—and I was successful almost from the first."

"Most chorus girls really object to performing in current so-called undressed shows," says Dorothy Bryant, executive secretary of the Chorus Girls Equity Association, who knows more chorines, perhaps, than any other person in Gotham.

"Only a few don't. It's like everything else."

"As a matter of fact the disrobed shows are bound to pass. They were created because of demands of Middle Western men visitors. They are not patronized by New Yorkers as a rule. The westerners insisted on something snappy. They got it.

"The purchasing agent for a large concern, responsible for the entertainment of out-of-town buyers tells me he has seen a certain fluff girl-and-music show—one that has created no end of discussion—so often that he knows the lines by rote."

"His guests insist on witnessing the performance, yet they would be among the first to call out the sheriff if it were produced in their home town, where their mothers, wives, daughters or sweethearts might have an opportunity to see it."

HAS REAL RISE TO FAME

One painter and decorator who 15 years ago tramped the streets of Chicago in search of work is today chief of the Commercial Air Service in Soviet Russia. He is Alexander Krasnozhchokoff, and he organized the commercial air fleet so that it is closely interwoven into the military air service, though still a thing apart. His planes carry mail, merchandise and passengers. Krasnozhchokoff is a Communist and president of a bank in Moscow.

SOME ODD RENTS PAID

In many parts of the country there are peculiar rents, but one of the oddest is that recorded in Sussex, England, where it takes the form of a pound of black pepper each year, the payment of which covers the rent on the estate. Another unique payment is a garland and three roses, covering rent on an entire estate in Leicestershire. The explanation is found in arrangements made in the Middle Ages, when all land was considered to be the property of the crown.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS
GUESTS AT BANQUET

Coach Wilson Satisfied With Players If They Fight
Hard And Clean

Members of the H-Y club were hosts Wednesday evening at a banquet for Appleton high school football team at the Y. M. C. A. About 40 persons were present. Harold Zuehlke was toastmaster and W. S. Ford of the vocational school was the chief speaker.

Mr. Ford commended both the team and Coach Wilson on the splendid showing they made this year in spite of that fact that many of the men had very little former football experience.

He then compared the game of football to the game of life and said the spirit the fellows had shown this year was invincible, the kind that makes for success in life.

Coach Wilson gave an interesting account of what he attempted to convey to the players, a something that would make them better prepared for the game of life. He said it was immaterial to him whether the game was won or lost so long as the players were playing clean and their hard-est.

Capt. "Ted" Bieker spoke briefly of the benefits he and the members of the team had received from the games.

Leon C. High called attention to the hard work of Coach Wilson and the spirit of the team which had developed tremendously under his supervision, and which made the boys fight hard against great odds.

LONDONERS FIND
CITY TOO NOISY
DESPITE QUIET

British Capital Seems Restful
In Comparison With American Cities

By Associated Press

London — One of the first impressions that observant Americans coming from their own noisy, bustling cities, get of London is its serene quiet. Turn off any of the busiest highways, and in a few yards the stillness of the side-streets is soothing to the ear. One may walk blocks and blocks without hearing the sounds of a phonograph coming from any window, and the curb is almost deserted, automobiles not being so common as in America. Those that do roll down the streets give warning of their coming by old-fashioned horns never so irritating as car-splitting sirens. Only in a few offices has the typewriter replaced the pen.

There is a noticeable absence of children with their noisy games. Except in the poorer quarters they do not congregate on the sidewalks and streets. That is one of the things that isn't done.

Yet many Londoners think their capital terribly noisy. Of those who loved the easy, jazzless age before the war, some are beginning to complain of the tide of sound ever rising around them. Stanley Rowland has just protested at length against the "crisis of noise," in an article in the Nineteenth Century. Motor-horns cause him anguish, motorcycles fret his nerves, jazz music he cannot tolerate. But the growing noises of the home fret him as much as the inevitable racket of the streets, the cafes and dance halls.

Those Mr. Rowland fails with his pen include persons who slam doors instead of quietly turning the knob, and those who walk with pompous poundings of their shoes. The man who rustles his newspaper with crackling explosions also bothers the ear of Mr. Rowland, and so also the man who puts things—books, chairs, anything—down with a bang. He loves, or says he does, the quiet and gentle conversationalist, but he abhors those who broadcast their every word.

If noise keeps on breeding noise, the writer declares, the prospect is pandemonium.

So far nothing has been done about it.

VOLUNTARY GIVING WILL BE MEANS OF FINANCING CHURCH

Congregational Members To Undertake Larger Mission
Program In 1924

Giving without being asked is the privilege of members of the First Congregational church through voluntary pledge day which occurs next Sunday from 2 o'clock to 4:30 in the afternoon. There are 1,100 resident members who at that time will make weekly pledges for the year 1924 toward an estimated budget of $21,280. The aim this year is to oversubscribe this figure.

Maintenance of the church for the year is figured on about the same basis as last year but the christianity extension fund has been increased to $6,200, the largest mission goal ever attempted by the congregation. Part of this money goes to the support of Mr. and Mrs. Leeds Gulick, the church missionaries to Japan, and to Miss Vera Cuthbert, its worker among the Negroes in Alabama. The remainder will be devoted to the gigantic mission program of the Congregational denomination, which has set out to stimulate world peace through spread of christianity.

Eight booths will be arranged in the church parlors Sunday afternoon, one for each of the parish districts. One member of the board of trustees will be in charge of each. The pledges will be filled out in an informal social period will follow until 4:30 when the chorus choir under direction of Dean Carl J. Waterman, will sing Maundy's "Song of Thanksgiving" in the auditorium.

Systematic Social Work Here Assured By Welfare Council

Council Of Relief Organizations
Elects Officers And Prepares
For Year Of Activity

Social service in Appleton was given a new impetus Wednesday afternoon when Appleton Welfare council, at a meeting in Appleton Women's club, organized for the ensuing year. Elected officers and accepted the offer of the Women's club to use its facilities as a central agency for the organizations included in the welfare council. Preparations for the annual Christmas effort for the needy were discussed and a committee was appointed to push the petition for appointment of a community public health nurse.

Mrs. Gustave Keller was re-elected president of the council. Other officers are Mrs. G. A. Ritchie, vice president; Mrs. H. B. Kuentz, secretary; Mrs. Julius Kahn, treasurer. Mrs. Kuentz formerly was a public health nurse and has agreed to devote considerable time to the problems here.

MUST CONTINUE WORK
It was realized that the efforts of the council successful in 1922 and 1923, must be continued. There was an enthusiasm for the work that presages a year of greater activity than ever before. Harmonious relations exist between all the organizations represented in the council and it is expected that frequent meetings will be held to discuss mutual problems and to avoid duplication of effort.

One of the first projects will be the visit of a committee from the welfare council to the finance committee of the city common council to urge appointment of a community health nurse. The petition was presented to the council last spring but action was deferred until the 1924 estimates are prepared. These estimates now are in process of preparation. The welfare council's committee consists of Mrs. Stephen Rosebush, Mrs. F. E. Wright, Mrs. Gustave Keller and Mrs. H. B. Kuentz.

ACCEPT CLUB'S OFFER
Women were agreed that Appleton Women's club is the logical center of their activities because it is the tendency of women generally to turn to the club with their problems. The club offered its office, telephone and secretary to the council and it was decided to make the club office the center from which the council and its component organizations will work. All requests for help and all information that will assist the council in carrying on its work should be given to the women's club secretary.

The senior class of Appleton high school, which assists a large number of needy families at Thanksgiving and Christmas, also will work through the welfare council in order to eliminate duplication.

COLLECT CLOTHING
Space in the basement of the Playhouse, Women's club headquarters, was offered the welfare council as a clothes distribution center. Clothing suitable for use should be sent to the playhouse and will be distributed with the Christmas baskets.

Collection of toys for distribution among the needy families also will be continued. The toys sent with the Christmas baskets last year were appreciated as highly as the more substantial contents. The Rev. P. O. Keicher, who has been offered the scout leadership in Appleton, Neenah and Kaukauna, volunteered to take charge of the toy collection. Arrangements for cooperating with the scout troops and with school principals will be worked out.

Miss Ann Helm, secretary of council last year, assisted in lining up the work for this year. She will be in Appleton another day or two and will spend the time conferring with welfare council officers and members to assist in putting social service work on a firm foundation.

BUSINESS EXPERT MAKES SURVEY OF APPLETON STORES

Fisk Will Tell In Address Monday Night What He Found In Stores Here

A new service to Appleton merchants has taken on a new form since James W. Fisk, merchandising counsel of the Milwaukee Journal visited here and addressed Appleton business people. On November 12 Mr. Fisk gave two lectures—one in the evening to business people on the "Science of Salesmanship" and a noonday lecture to business executives on "Finding the Weak Spots in Your Business." Mr. Fisk also visited many Appleton stores and commented on the service they were giving the public in general. After carefully studying the business conditions here he decided to conduct a more thorough investigation of the merchants' problem.

A group of shoppers was chosen to make a careful investigation of every Appleton retail store. Each shopper has been assigned a certain number of stores to investigate. The plan is very simple and is accomplished somewhat on this order: The "shoppers" go into this store, just like any other customer might, and look over the merchandise and buy perhaps those articles which they think they may need, or at least give that impression to the sales person, or the owner of the store. Never do they intimate what their real mission is. An inspection of the appearance of the store, the window displays, entrance way, interior appearance, cleanliness, quality of merchandising, price, and a general way in which the merchant conducts his business, is carefully gone over. The information will be given to Mr. Fisk during his visit here.

During the evening talk to be given at the vocational school next Monday, Mr. Fisk will take the information accumulated from the findings of the group of "shoppers" and will offer suggestions on how to conduct Appleton business more efficiently and more profitably.

The address on Monday evening will be on "How Advertising Lessens Sales Resistance." This will take up in part the power of advertising, how it increases demand, what sales people may do to cooperate effectively with advertising, linking up displays with publicity and stock arrangements. The noonday luncheon talk to business executives to be given at the "Cway hotel at 12:15, will be on Planning An Aggressive Sales Campaign." This will cover in part the planning for greater business, how increased sales reduce percentage costs, systematic methods of conducting special sales, concentrating all efforts for sales success, how to plan ahead and make progress in increasing business.

DISCUSS PARENTS' PART IN EDUCATION

"The Parent's Part in American Education" will be discussed by Dr. J. L. Mursell of Lawrence college and W. S. Ford of the vocational school at the Fifth ward school and by District Attorney John Lonsdorf and C. W. Cross at the Third ward school at 7:30 Thursday evening.

On Friday afternoon the program will be divided into three groups. If the weather permits physical education work will be demonstrated by the children on the school grounds of both wards. Following this a display of home arts, industrial arts, music, current events and thrift will be on display in class rooms.

The third part of the program is a display of the work done by kindergarten children. The pupils in this department have built almost everything imaginable with their blocks, including a farm and all its buildings.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE OUTLINED TO COUNCIL

Members of all the posts of the county council of the American Legion which met at New London on Wednesday evening were invited to the meeting of One Hundred post here on Dec. 2, by L. Hugo Keller, commander of the post and state membership director. Mr. Keller outlined what is being done by the posts in the county and in the state.

The council voted to accept the invitation of R. C. Carpenter to attend the unveiling of the soldiers' monument at Leeman on Dec. 2. This is the first world war monument to be unveiled in Outagamie-co.

H. J. Pettigrew told of the welfare work for the service men at Christmas time. He spoke especially of the soldiers who have been rehabilitated and are leaving the schools at this time.

CAR STOLEN HERE MAY BE IN DAKOTA

A Chevrolet touring car that was stolen from C. J. Thomas of Appleton while parked in front of the Wisconsin Telephone company exchange on Nov. 17 may have been recovered in Sioux Falls, S. D. A telegram was received by the Appleton police department Wednesday stating that the department of justice there is holding two suspects. They admit having stolen a car that was parked "in front of a newspaper office" in Appleton but local authorities are of the opinion that the thieves confused the telephone company office with a newspaper office. The authorities are checking up on the description of the suspects.

Laid Flowers On Bier Of Harding; Joins Him

AMBROSE HIGGINS, JR.

New York — The small, lisping voice of little Ambrose Higgins, Jr., age 5, who placed a wreath he bought with his own pennies at the bier of President Harding, is silenced in death.

His tiny body was crushed beneath the wheels of a lumbering truck as he dashed carefree across the street from his home in 164th street here in New York, to a candy store.

Ambrose has joined his friend—President Harding.

While the world was mourning the death of the nation's chief executive as his body lay in state in the East Room of the White House, Ambrose filtered through the strong guard of soldiers and police with his bouquet for the president.

"Please, policeman, for ve president," he countered, holding out flowers whenever he was halted by members of the guard. It was his password.

Thus he gained entrance to the East Room, where few had the opportunity to enter. Soldiers, with fixed bayonets, stood guard—as motionless as statues.

Midst the flowers of respect sent by a sorrowing world, Ambrose placed his offering—the single and concentrated offering from the childhood of the land.

"Rest in peace" was scribbled in his own youthful scrawl on the attached card.

It was a small boy's epitaph for his dead chief.

May it be his own.

SALESMAN 'FAKES' ROBBERY STORY TO PAY OFF HIS DEBTS

Walter Feavel Nabbed By Police When His Story Fails To Hold Water

Another "fake" holdup failed Wednesday evening when Walter Feavel, 23, a Jewel Tea company agent, after declaring that he had been robbed of more than $200 confessed to the police that the robbery story was a ruse to cover up his own avidity.

This is only one of a series of bogus robberies that have been uncovered by Chief George T. Prim within the last year. Feavel, like the other persons involved, needed money and took what appeared to be the easiest means. He had gone into debt through a new home which he is acquiring.

According to the original story he told the police, Feavel and his wife had returned from a wedding to their home at 1463 Spencer-ve. Shortly after 6 o'clock he had gone upstairs to make a report to his company district headquarters at Oshkosh.

HELD GUN IN FACE

He said he thought he heard a man walking downstairs and a short time later he found himself looking into the barrels of a silver plated revolver. Holding the revolver to the cheek of the team man, the robber then relieved Feavel of about $200 which he had on his person. Feavel's bow spectacles were torn off in the scuffle and trampled upon, he said. Upon examination, police found one of the lenses broken but the frame intact.

Police ransacked the place and found that drawers of a sideboard and a dresser had been opened. Feavel told the police that the robber had looted these after the holdup. The visitor's entrance had been made through a basement window which had no pane, he said.

PRIM DISCREDITS STORY

Feavel's story was discredited early by Chief Prim and when the tea man was informed of it, he broke down and confessed the deed. Police found $39 in currency and a check for $25.53 hidden between the ceiling and the floor. Feavel also admitted burning about 20 checks payable to the company to ward off discovery. He had $5.19 in change in his pockets.

Before deciding to take Feavel in to court, the police notified Feavel's district headquarters employers in Oshkosh who were expected to come to Appleton.

LETTER FROM MRS. JOSEPH GRAVES HAMILTON TO MR. JOSEPH GRAVES HAMILTON

MY DEAR HUSBAND:

The queerest thing possible has happened, Joe dear, and it seems to me as if it were a direct interposition of Providence.

You remember when you were here last, we talked over the possibility of bringing a baby to Leslie; and when we could not interest her in it.

The night before last, Leslie did not seem as well as usual. She was very restless. Kept moaning even in her sleep. Yesterday morning, much to the surprise of everyone, she called as soon as she awoke for Jack. And when he came she said, "I want to go home."

Jack seemed to think that she wanted to come to our home and he sent for me post haste. However, before I was dressed and had gotten to her room, she explained to Jack that she meant their own apartment.

Of course every one, including the doctor, was perfectly delighted to hear her make some request, and within an hour we had her back in her own bed room, and I again had taken the apartment across the hall for myself and the nurses.

For a little time she seemed much brighter; yesterday morning, although the ride and the setting of her in her home tired her greatly. About noon she went to sleep and slept until late in the afternoon. When she awoke she asked, "Where is my baby? Bring him to me."

No one dared answer. She seemed to have forgotten all about her accident and her long illness and to have been keeping her head above water only by the aid of the doctor and only sank to sleep after the doctor had given her a narcotic. I confess we were all very much worried. Jack thought that she would never recover her normal mind again. I found her about half past nine in his room. When he had thrown himself across his bed, sobbing.

It's a terrible thing, Joe, to see a man give up and weep. And Jack has been so splendid and so strong through it all. I thought, however, at one time he, too, was losing his mind, for he seemed to think that all of Leslie's trouble was a punishment to him. I tried to tell him that he had been devoted itself to Leslie, that I would not ask my own son to be sweeter to the girl he had married than he had been to my daughter. And he made a very queer remark to me Joe. He said, "Oh, Mother Hamilton, you do not know—you do not know."

I was sure the boy was becoming much over Leslie's long illness. I sat a long time with him, and once or twice I thought I heard a step and a faint moaning cry in the hall-way. However, I did not get up to see what was the matter, because my mind was so taken up with Jack's and Leslie's affairs.

At last we decided that early the next morning we would go to the Children's Home and bring Leslie a baby, for now that she was calling for her baby, there seemed nothing else to do.

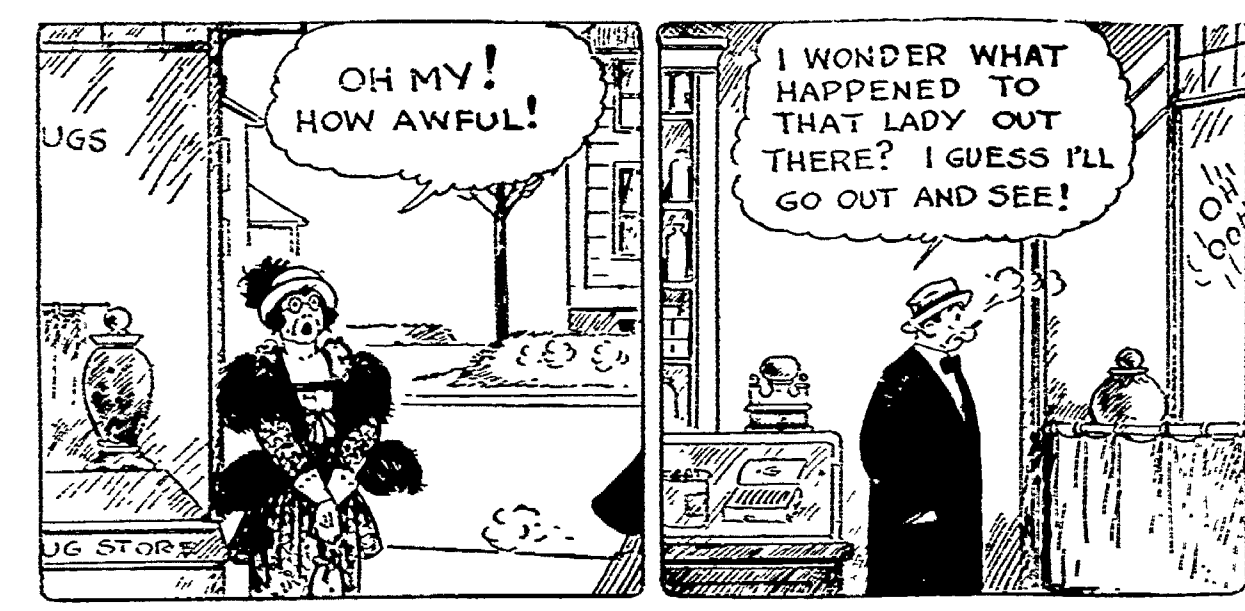

I opened the door into Leslie's room and found her sleeping quietly. The nurse said that her restlessness had all gone.

It was then that I found I was unbelievably fatigued. It seemed to me that I could hardly walk across the hall to the children's apartment to my own. For a moment I sat down by Leslie's bed and then I dreamed of her as she was a baby in my arms. The tears filled my eyes.

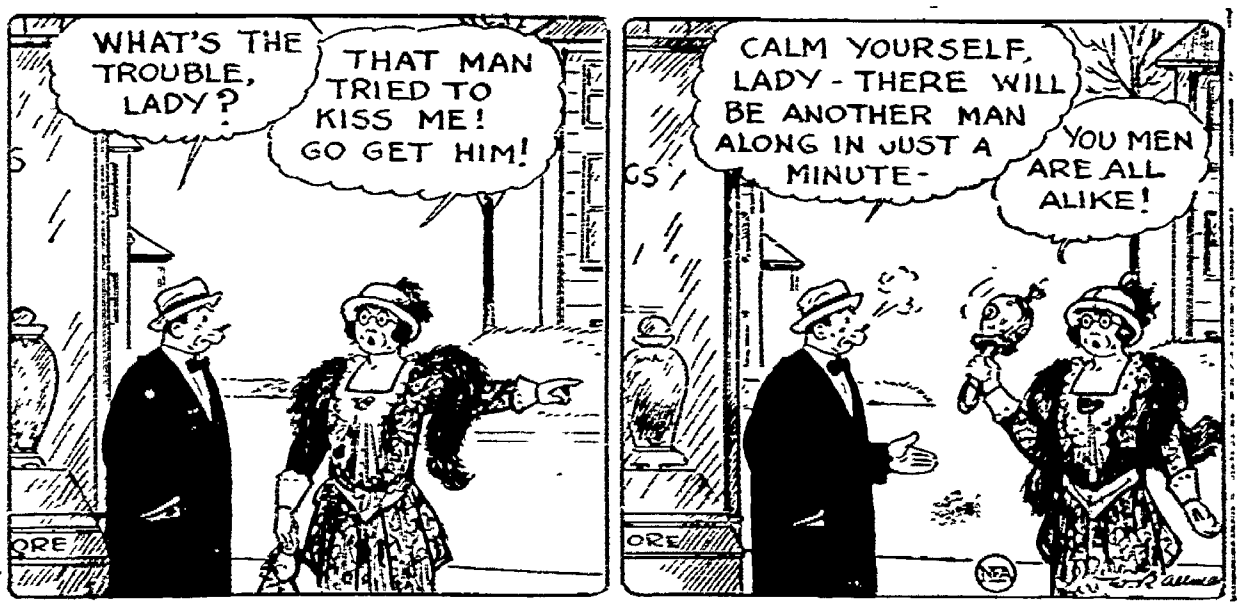

"Here! Here! I must not allow myself to give up," I said as I hastily walked to the doorway and opened the door into the hall.

TOMORROW—Mrs. Hamilton continues the letter—A baby at the door!

Adventures of The Twins

Mister Gallop

"Well, well, well!" said Mister Gallop, stepping out of his cave in the Red Rock.

"And we're glad to see you, too!" said Nancy and Nick, glancing down off their ponies and snaking hands with the cowboy fairy.

"I hope you'll like the west," said Mister Gallop.

"Why, we love it already," declared Nick, looking around. The ponies had brought the twins up a mountain path no wider than a dinner plate to Mister Gallop's cave. And from where they were standing they could look straight down, like below it seemed, upon the plains spread out in a great flat ocean of land.

"My, my, but the world's big!" cried Nancy.

"Yes, that's agreed," said Mister Gallop, "but not enough for some of us. That's my job. Right over there, warden or ranger or whatever you call people who keep order."

"There can't be many people in the west," remarked Nick, "but I don't see a house."

"Mister Gallop put his finger over his lips. Right over there, he whispered, pointing to a sharp rock with a dark, lace undergrowth lives Mrs. Bear and her two children. Right beyond that pine tree lives Mr. and Mrs. Antelope. Up a bit of that hill, away to the left, lives old Granddaddy Golden Eagle. And down at the bottom of the mountain, where the water runs, lives the little old man who keeps the store."

RECIPES

Keep Rich Flavor Of Cranberry

There's Difference Between Oldtime Sauce And These Recipes

And how do you take your cranberry sauce? There is the old rhyme about pease porridge, "some like it hot and some like it cold," some like it in the pot nine days old. It's some that way with cranberry sauce. Some want it sweet, some want it sour, and some want it jellied and others thick and hearty.

Personally, the day that we met cranberries, preserved, clear and without a drop of sugar, we felt that we had found a new way of acquainting ourselves with this "winter ruby of the bogs." You know the difference between just stewed apples and apples that are quartered and cooked clear in a sugar syrup? Well, there is all that difference and more between cranberries just stewed and cranberries tenderly cooked for five minutes in a hot sugar syrup.

After all this, here are two ways of "seasoning" cranberries:

PARAGON CRANBERRY SAUCE

Dissolve two cups of sugar in two cups of boiling water and boil them together for five minutes. Skim, add a quart of cranberries and let them boil briskly, without stirring for five minutes or until they are transparent.

STANDARD STEWED CRANBERRIES

Cook one quart of cranberries in two cups of water until the skins are all broken (about 20 minutes). Add two cups of sugar and simmer for five minutes longer. Chill well before serving—the juice may partly jelly. If so much sugar is objectionable, try adding a scant-quarter teaspoon of salt for each cup of berries, decreasing the sugar one-quarter to one-half, according to one's taste. Especially is this a good suggestion when the sauce is to be used for pies or puddings. This sauce may be strained if desired, but skins and seeds add to wholesomeness and should preferably be retained.

Now having caught your sauce—what to do with it? Just as with the rabbit, you can make an admirable pie or tart, this time with meringue or lattice work top. Here is a hot water pie crust that provides quantity and ease of making. Cut it "oh yes little faith," who have been reared on having all your pie-crust-making materials ice-cold—and see what happens!

NEVER FAIL PIE CRUST

Two and one-half cups flour, one-half-cup boiling water, one-half-cup shortening, one-fourth-teaspoon baking powder, one-eighth-teaspoon salt. (Preferably one-fourth-cup butter and one-fourth-cup lard.)

Create the shortening with the water by adding the latter only a bit at a time. Mix the salt and baking powder with the sifted flour, and stir this into the butter and water. Turn out upon a floured board and roll thin before lining the tins. This amount will make upper and lower crusts for one large pie.

HOW TO SERVE

Serve your cranberry sauce hot with roasts like the French compote (a few raisins in it will add to the occasion). Serve it cold with cold meats.

Serve it mixed with cream cheese for a sandwich filling, between thin slices of Boston brown bread.

Serve it as a filling for crisp crosses pie by putting one and one-half table-spoons of flour to three cups of sauce, and cooking in a pie plate lined with pastry and striped with pastry across the top 15 minutes in a hot oven and for 15 more at lower heat.

Household Suggestions

SUEDE GLOVES

You can clean your light-colored suede gloves with a mixture of powdered alum and fuller's earth in equal parts.

CARBONED CEILING

When the ceiling above a gas jet has become darkened apply a layer of starch and water with a piece of flannel. Let dry and then brush off lightly.

INSTEAD OF MILK

You can sometimes use water in mixing a cake when there is no milk available and you will find the cake lighter and less likely to scorch.

It is poor economy to reheat coffee since the flavor lies in the volatile oil which goes after the coffee is made. But left-over coffee can be utilized very nicely for mixing ginger bread or for gelatine desserts.

Correct Dancing Is Help To Success

"WHEN YOU ARE AT A LOSS FOR SOMETHING TO SAY, SAY SOMETHING PLEASANT."

BY ARTHUR MURRAY
Director, National Institute of Social Dancing

Dancing, by helping one to conquer self-consciousness, is a big stepping stone to success.

The mastery of the dance has a direct influence on efficiency and leadership in the larger world of social relations.

Mixing with people in ballrooms where one has to be sociable and meeting new faces at every turn will serve to cure the most aggravated case of timidity and shyness. Timidity is an outward evidence of a lack of self-confidence. You hesitate because you fear you cannot do a thing well. Because a person does not associate frequently with other humans, he becomes timid in the presence of his fellow men. I know, because, as a young chap, I was so shy that I would cross the street rather than speak to a girl.

Learning to dance brought me in contact with so many people in various stages of life that I soon overcame the embarrassing habit of blushing. I learned to meet people in a graceful way, to carry on a conversation and to make an easy departure. How often have you met people who did not know how to approach others, who were always "stuck" for something to say and

Young Hen Turkey Is Best For Thanksgiving

BY SISTER MARY

Are you thinking of ordering your Thanksgiving turkey? Perhaps these suggestions will help you to serve the best one on record.

A turkey, to be in its prime, should be of the last spring's hatching. This means that the bird will weigh from eight to ten pounds. Of course, there are turkeys less than a year old weighing several pounds more, but to be on the safe side order "from eight to ten pounds," preferably a "hen" and yours can't help but be tender.

An eight to ten-pound turkey will serve six or eight persons.

If you must serve more people, use two eight-pound turkeys rather than one very heavy one.

A young hen turkey should be plump, have smooth, dark "drumsticks," and the cartilage at the end of the breast bone soft and pliable. If these conditions do not hold, have none of the bird, for a poor, bony turkey weighing eight pounds would be tough and old.

If a turkey, more than eight or nine months old must be used, a "cobbler" usually will be found to be better eating.

WHY IS THANKSGIVING?

When you are planning your dinner, think for a minute of the tradition back of the present Thanksgiving day and keep your menu simple and homely. "Hans 200 years" have no place on a typical American Thanksgiving dinner table. Let the turkey hold the center of the stage, so to speak, and build the dinner around it.

If you must prepare and serve the dinner without a maid, do all the things it's possible to do the day before Thanksgiving. Make the cranberry sauce, stone the raisins for the pudding, have the pumpkin ready to make into pie, the salt and pepper-filled and shrimps, and all the little things attended to that take so much time and thought at the last minute.

If a "big dinner" can be prepared with a calm mind and without rush and flurry it's really lots of fun.

HOW'S THIS MENU?

This menu is simple and may suggest other possibilities to you.

Tomato Soup
Roast Turkey
Mashed Potatoes
Candied Sweet Potatoes
Creamed Onions
Celery
Peach Pickles
Rice Pudding
Pumpkin Pie
Coffee
Nuts
Fruit

The centerpiece could well be made of fruit and nuts. A pumpkin bowl with bitter-sweet spilling over the edges and trailing a bit on the table is attractive and colorful. The red and yellow checked apples, white and Tokay grapes and dull tones of nuts in the brilliant pumpkin yellow make as artistic a decoration as heart could wish.

ROAST TURKEY

Your butcher should dress the turkey. The giblets are usually put loosely back inside. Remove these and let stand in cold salt water to cover while washing the bird itself.

To wash the turkey rub the inside thoroughly with salt. Then let cold water thoroughly wash and rinse out every trace of the salt. Scrape the outside with the dull edge of a case knife, keeping the turkey under water and taking care not to break the skin. Scrub well with the plum of the hand and wash through many waters. Rinse the giblets under running water. Truss and stuff.

To truss a turkey, draw the wings close to the body and tie with a stout wrapping cord. Draw wings close to the body and use a large trussing needle to sew through the body. Make a half-inch stitch in one wing and sew back through the body and tie with cord on other wing. When the turkey is ready to be served cut the knot and pull cord out by the stitch. The skin should be sewed to gather over the stuffing. Do not stuff the turkey too full, for the stuffing swells during the roasting and may burst the bird.

STEAMING WILL HELP

One of the nicest ways to cook a turkey is to steam it for two hours before roasting. The steaming preserves the flavor and makes the flesh tender without danger of becoming too dry by long roasting. If a steamer is not at hand a large pan with a tight-fitting cover can be used. Tie the turkey to the cover, fastening it by the drumsticks. Put boiling water in the pan, as much as possible without touching the turkey. Steam two hours, keeping tightly covered to prevent steam from escaping. Use the water to baste the turkey during roasting.

Rub turkey well with salt and cover breast with 1/2 cup butter and 1/4 cup flour rubbed together. Place turkey on its side in the roasting pan and put in a hot oven. As soon as the turkey begins to brown reduce heat fill the bottom of the pan with the liquor in which the turkey was steamed and roast two hours.

If the turkey is not steamed before roasting, cover the whole surface with flour and cover the breast with thin slices of bacon. A self-basting roaster should be used. Dredge the bottom of the roaster with flour. When the turkey begins to brown, reduce the heat and add water. Roast about four hours.

Remove Cocoa Stain When Wet

To remove cocoa stains from tablecloths or other fabrics, wash out in clear cold water (do not use any soap) before the stains have dried. Every trace of the cocoa can be removed in this way.

If you have a patent-leather vanity purse and wish to remove the finger-prints, dip a cloth in cold milk and rub on the vanity. When dry, take a soft dry cloth and polish. It will then look like new.

Common table salt rubbed on a milk-strainer cleans it more easily than anything else.

To clean gut, go over the gut with a dry cloth to remove the dust. Then wash it with warm water in which a medium-sized onion has been boiled. Dry by rubbing with soft cloths.

HOT CEREALS

There is no breakfast dish the "sticks to the ribs" quite like a good hot cereal with cream.

The ready-to-eat cereals are all very well with fruit and sugar and cream on a warm summer morning, but when there's a nip in the air a dish of steaming oatmeal porridge or mush is needed to make a hearty breakfast.

There is no more nourishing, muscle-building food at so reasonable a price possible to serve. The grains themselves are composed chiefly of starch and carbohydrates with some water and mineral contents. Wheat and oats contain some protein. The cream or milk furnishes fat and protein, making the whole dish a nearly perfect food.

There are one or two points worth remembering when cooking cereals. First, always cook them in boiling water. This means rapidly bubbling water, not just steaming or bubbling in the bottom of the pan.

Second, add salt to the water before adding the cereal.

Third, all raw cereals must be well cooked. An hour or longer is required no matter what the directions on the box suggest. Only by the long cooking of grains is their sweetness and digestibility fully developed. Double boiler is excellent for this purpose.

Sift the cereal to be cooked into three times its bulk of boiling water. Allow one teaspoon salt to three cups of water. Cook directly over heat, stirring to prevent lumping or 10 or 15 minutes. Then put into boiling water in the bottom of the boiler and cook for half an hour or longer.

The cereal should be covered tightly. Fill up water pan with boiling water and let stand over night. The morning reheat and serve. The heat of the cereal and the boiling water continue the cooking process after the fire is extinguished. Any left-over cereal can be used in puddings or cut in thin slices and fried.

If you have no double boiler or reheat cooker try baking the oatmeal the night before.

BAKED OATMEAL

One cup coarse oatmeal (not rolled), 4 cups rapidly boiling water, teaspoon salt.

Slowly stir the cereal into the boiling water. Cook 15 minutes. Turn into a buttered pudding dish and bake in a moderate oven for two hours. The morning put the dish in a large pan of warm water, bring to the boiling point and keep stirring until thoroughly hot. The length of time required will, of course, depend on the shape and size of the dish.

OATMEAL PORRIDGE

One cup rolled oats, 3 cups boiling water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 1/4 cup stoned and chopped dates or raisins.

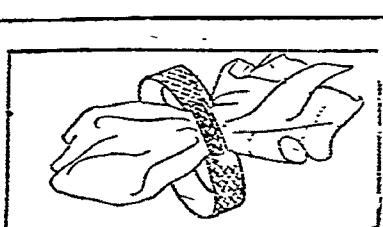

Cook oats as suggested in double boiler. Rub through a sieve. In the morning add milk heated to the boiling point. Do not allow milk to boil over boiling water stirring vigorously until perfectly blended. Add chopped fruit and serve with this cream.

The long cooking of the oats brings out their natural sweetness and the addition of the sweet fruit makes a delicious sugar unnecessary.

From serge, saturate a small piece of the same material with chloroform and rub well until the stain disappears.

Flowers usually discolor a vase. Use a little vinegar and a spoonful of tea (not drawn) and let it stand for a few minutes. Shake well and rinse. Apply paste of cold water and pipe clay to remove oil marks on wall paper. Leave it on all night; brush off in the morning.—From the Designer Magazine.

KERCHIEF BAND

A wristband for your handkerchief may match your sweater or carry out some color scheme in your gown. Use Luster Iceland wool and cast on 12 stitches. Knit about two inches. Then knit three inches, only leaving the others on the needle until you have sufficient length for the stitch through which your handkerchief is to be pulled—about an inch and a half.

Then break your thread and pick up the stitches and knit the next six only, the same length as the first three. Break your thread again and do the same with the last three stitches. Then knit straight across. Join all 12 stitches again and continue to the desired length of the band.

A chiffon or linen handkerchief embroidered with the wool makes a pretty kerchief to wear with the band.

Silver Candlestick Has Come Into Own Again

Silver candlesticks, never entirely out of fashion with women who like ornaments of worth, are very much back in fashion's limelight. Decorators have always appreciated the fact that silver candlesticks are so gracefully beautiful in their own right. Their tall silverness, clean cut and beautiful making for true elegance and charm in any decorative group.

The newest way to use candlesticks is to have four of them placed on the diagonals of the diameter of the dining table at a distance from the center where their tall stateliness is most needed to give the best effect.

EFFECTIVE GROUPING

Where one uses a refectory or oblong table, it is customary to place them a little farther down the sides, and group them in pairs. The long line of the table is preserved in this way, and the setting greatly enhanced. If the two-branch candlesticks are used, they are similarly placed, and make for sturdiness and simplicity.

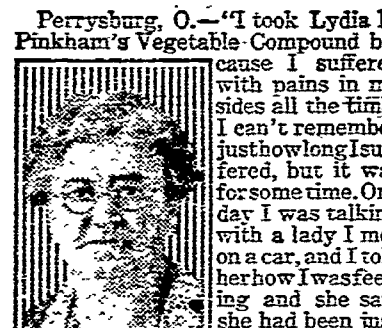

But in the dining room is not the only one which fashion says must hold silver candlesticks. For the boudoir, the dressing table, there are some adorable little things, dainty and charming as may be. Their silver surfaces reflect the colors and lights in the room delightfully. With the shades matching the other color accents it is hard to imagine anything lovelier or daintier.

The bookcase downstairs calls for sturdiness, richness in its decorations. The simple lined and more heavily embossed sticks, such as the silver Corinthian column, give a note of elegance that its eminently characteristic and fits the bookish atmosphere perfectly.

With console table, mantel, buffet—there is a type and kind that supply the touch of elegance every woman in delights to give her home.

Women Tell Each Other How They Have Been Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Perryburg, O.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my sides all the time. I can't remember just how long I suffered, but it was for some time. One day I was talking with a lady I met on a car, and I told her how I was feeling and she said she had been just like I was with pains and nervous troubles, and she took the Vegetable Compound, and it cured her. So then I went and got some, and I certainly recommend it for it is good. Whenever I see any woman who is sick I try to get her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. ADA FRICK, Route 3, Perryburg, Ohio.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

INDIVIDUAL PLAY WILL DECIDE BIG TEN TITLE GAMES

Three Teams In Striking Distance Of Championship Depend On Stars

Chicago—Individual play of three grid stars may assume an important part in deciding this year's western conference football championship.

With three teams in striking distance of the title and all depending on the outcome of the closing games Saturday, the individual star of the season in each of these games is being counted on to put through the plays that will spell victory and the championship.

Illinois, meeting Ohio state, is depending on Harold Grange, halfback. Minnesota and Michigan, meeting at Ann Arbor, are the other teams with a chance at the title. Kipke, Michigan's shining light, is pitted against Martineau, the big point getter of Minnesota.

Ohio State is strongly determined to humble the fighting Illini machine of coach Bob Zupke.

The Minnesota Gophers plan to leave Thursday for Jackson, Mich., where they will spend Friday and continue on to Ann Arbor Saturday morning. Heavy scrimmages have been discontinued at the Wolverine camp and Coach Yost, with several injured on his hands, is endeavoring to muster a recovered squad by game time.

The Wisconsin team is again intact after being handicapped during previous practice by casualties, and will be in prime condition when it meets Chicago.

Although doped for an easy victory over Northwestern at Evanston, Coach Jones is taking no chances, with his Iowa squad and will continue practice. Coach Thistlewaite is shifting Northwestern's line and trying out combinations he hopes will accumulate yardage and points.

GUM PANTS GUARD AGAINST GRID MUD

By Associated Press Morgantown, W. Va.—The rubber pants used by West Virginia university football players here Saturday when St. Louis university was defeated on a muddy field were designed and originated by Glenn Warner, coach of the University of Pittsburgh, head coach at Dr. W. C. Sears, lead coach at West Virginia.

They are designed not to make the players slippery and elusive to would-be tacklers, but to shed rain and prevent the matting of mud on the players. Dr. Spears adopted them when the actual experiment showed that a pair of pants used on a muddy field weighed 30 pounds more after the game than they did before.

According to the West Virginia coach, Pitt and West Virginia are the only two schools in the country who keep these rubber pants as a regular part of their playing equipment.

1,500 GAMES EXPECTED IN JANESVILLE BOWLING MEET

About 300 will enter from Milwaukee and about 100 from Madison, with other cities of the state entering in proportion. The alleys were recently declared in excellent shape by a committee of the state organization who visited Janesville and tried out the lanes. Jan. 5 has been set as the final date for the admission of entries. Teams who have to come long distances will be given weekend assignments.

WATCH LINEUPS TO SHOW PLAY TYPE IN ARMY-NAVY CONTEST

Middle Lineup Has Rival Groups Favoring Offense And Defense

By Associated Press New York—Last minute line-up revisions are expected to forestall the type of play the Navy will employ against the Army when the two service eleven meet in the twenty sixth game of their brawling series at the Polo grounds next Saturday.

The middle lineup has rival candidates for several positions, with one group functioning better on offense, another which shines in defensive play. Taylor and Brown, ends, and Barcher, fullback, are included in the former group, and Caldwell and Burnett, ends and Stahler, fullback, are included in the latter.

Because the Cadets showed a superior offensive record, many students of football assert Navy's best plan of action will be that of defensive play. Largely on this offensive strength the Cadets rule favorite in Saturday's game and show a heavier, huskier combination than the Navy as well as a punter of superior ability. Wood, army kicking ace, has been consistently good this season.

Army rooters, however, are much concerned over reports that Smythe star quarterback, and most brilliant broken field runner on the East coast, may be unable to play. Smythe's ability to zigzag through scattered opposition has won many points for the cadets this season. With Wood, he comprises a dual threat which has figured prominently in baffling rival eleven.

Loss Of Backfield Men Knocks Hope Of Victory For Blue At Watertown

Kinney, Grignon, Boettcher, Zussman And LaRoux Will Be Out Of Game With Carroll Saturday

Prospects for a victory against Carroll in the last football game on the Lawrence schedule next Saturday at Watertown took a bad slump with the announcement that Kinney, star halfback, and La Rous, crack center on the first string are ineligible to play, and that Boettcher, Zussman and Grignon probably will be kept out of the game by injuries received in the Hamline contest last Friday. Boettcher ripped off a fingernail completely, and is unable to touch anything without intense pain. Zussman had two ribs knocked loose while Grignon again injured his leg.

This leaves Coach "Cub" Buck with cut a backfield, and he has been putting in extra time all during the week, trying to develop substitutes among his second string. With the exception of Gander, whose leg is still swollen somewhat, the line is intact. Olsson went in as center in La Rous's place in the Hamline game, and his showing there gives him a chance at a permanent berth in that position.

"Lid" Blackburn worked hard at St. Paul last Friday, playing his best game of the season, but since the lineup was knocked for a row of ashcan by injuries he has redoubled his own personal efforts, and is urging his mates to do likewise. Kotal will be in his usual place at quarter, and his generalship will go far to offset any other handicap.

Buck's choices for the backfield position will not be made until the men leave for Watertown. Competition is high among the second string men, and all are working hard to get a chance in a real game.

London—Frank Goddard won the light heavyweight championship of Great Britain from Jack Bloomfield when the latter was disqualified in the second round of their scheduled 20-round bout.

have little trouble with the upstarters. Ripon has lost to both Lawrence and Carroll while the Gold easily downed its two state rivals.

Following its hard battle with Cornell, Beloit is in fine shape for Saturday's game. Kulk, giant linesman, will be the only Beloit star who will have to remain on the sidelines. A serious shoulder injury, at first thought to be a broken collar bone but proving upon examination to be torn ligaments, will prevent him from playing.

COCHRAN NERVOUS ON EVE OF MATCH

Hoppe Can Stand Nerve Strain But Welker Suffers From Excitement

By Associated Press New York—While Hoppe, world's billed champion of and on for seventeen years, is to defend his title in a playoff match next month in Chicago against young Welker Cochran.

Hoppe probably will win because he is better fitted temperamentally to stand the nerve strain resulting from a month's tension in the play. Cochran is flighty of nerves, like many youngsters. His youthful susceptibility to mental hazards probably caused him to miff the chance to win the recent championship tournament instead of finishing in a tie.

Cochran defeated Hoppe in one of the early matches of the tournament. The match was not finished until midnight and the youngster said he was so excited he was unable to sleep that night. He had to play at noon the next day and was defeated by Hagenblacher, the German.

Recently Cochran opened a billiard parlor in Hollywood and he was so busy getting his business underway that he had no time to train or practice for the championship.

Between now and Dec. 15, when the playoff starts in Chicago with champion he probably will spend all his time in practice and thinking about Hoppe.

Which will do him no good.

MARQUETTE SEEKS DOPE ON VERMONT FOR HOMECOMING

Murray And Dunn Will Scout Eastern Team At Boston Saturday

Milwaukee—Frank J. Murray and Red Dunn, coach and Captain of the Marquette university football team, are going back to Boston. They will leave on Thursday where, on Saturday they will watch the University of Vermont, Marquette's homecoming adversaries here next week, play the Boston college Eagles.

As usual, the game will be played at "Braves" field and Coach Murray figures that Vermont will have to use everything to win over the Cavenham. When Murray was assistant coach at Marquette he ranked as a peerless scout, but has been unable to do anything of that kind since he has assumed full command. Marquette has no game scheduled for Saturday. Dunn was his immediate choice as an assistant.

Dunn will play against Vermont. He has regained his old time form and insists that his left arm, which was broken three weeks ago in the Boston game, is stronger than his right one. Dunn has played two minutes of the game since the Boston game engagement. At the present time, he ranks fifth in scoring among all the university players of the greater middle west and undoubtedly would be higher yet had he not run into bad luck.

PSYCHOLOGY WILL PLAY BIG PART IN YALE-HARVARD ROW

Elis Must Overcome Mental Hazard Developed Through Harvard Wins

New York — "Can Yale overcome the mental hazard which has developed through Harvard's many victories over the Elis in the past 15 years?"

This question is heard wherever football followers gather, for notwithstanding the general opinion that Yale boasts a more powerful and versatile eleven than Harvard, many close students of the game believe a Yale victory on Saturday will depend on the psychological elements at play.

They state Yale in the past 15 years has had gridiron eleven which have been physically superior and individually more skilled than the Harvard teams they have met, but that only twice in that period has Yale proved victorious, and they contend this almost uninterrupted succession of Harvard triumphs has created in Yale minds an obstacle that Yale must clear before it can feel certain of victory. Harvard was confronted by a similar obstacle in 1903 when Percy Haughton took charge of Crimson football. Only six times in 23 years had Harvard defeated the Blue and Haughton's big task was that of overcoming the bugaboo of those many Yale triumphs.

His first step in this direction came, when according to Cambridge reports, he characterized the hitherto awe-inspiring Yale football as "the big blue bird."

With that stroke he is said to have laid the foundation of the psychological background which in the opinion of football experts has served a large part in sending Harvard to 9 victories in 23 years. Holding Yale teams to a total of 23 points while Harvard was registering 139, and in permitting Yale to cross the Harvard goal line but once since 1907.

Perhaps Ted Jones has stripped a leaf from Haughton's note book in preparing his charges for their final battle. The fact that Yale's record for the season is so much superior to Harvard's may prove sufficient to remove from Eli minds any remembrance of Harvard's string of triumphs. Some believe additional preparation is needed and that without a break or two in Harvard's early in Saturday's game would promptly resurrect the psychological uncertainty which has figured so prominently in recent Harvard-Yale games.

Thanksgiving is a Time to Be WELL DRESSED AS WELL AS WELL FED

With prosperity at your doorstep, and everything back to normal again, with nothing going to the dogs, we should spruce up for the great day, and put up a good front. So Thursday is the day for the feast of Turkey and a feast of good things to wear—the day to get inside of something as well as take in something good. That thought brings us to

PROUT REELECTED

A. A. U. PRESIDENT

Case Of California Dashman Regarded More Leniently Than Heretofore

Detroit—Re-election of William C. Prout of Boston as president for the 23rd successive year, a more lenient attitude toward Charles Paddock and the acceptance of more than 190 American records marked the close of the thirty-fifth annual convention of the National Amateur Athletic union here on Tuesday.

G. H. Hulbert of the Metropolitan A. A. U. of New York was unanimously re-elected first vice president, and Fred L. Steers of Chicago, second vice president, to succeed Col. Washington Bowie of Baltimore.

Paddock's case was again brought up by Robert S. Weaver of Los Angeles, and the Californian made an eloquent appeal in behalf of the world's fastest dashman. Weaver informed the delegates that Paddock realized that he was ill advised and that he denies all the statements derogatory to the A. A. U., which it was alleged he made.

President Prout in answering Weaver said he was in favor of giving Paddock another chance and that in pursuance with the policy of the A. A. U. would appoint a committee to consider his case.

More than 100 records, 57 of which are American and which equal or surpass the recognized world's marks, were accepted by the committee. Two marks, claim for which was submitted on behalf of Francis Hussey of Stuyvesant school of New York, were turned down. They were the 100 yard dash in 9.95 in the men's outdoor and in the national scholastic.

RUSS BUILDS PLANE WITH MOVABLE WINGS

Harbin, Manchuria—An airplane with adjustable wings, enabling the pilot to alter his speed materially during flight, has just been given a series of tests here with highly satisfactory result. The inventor, J. J. Dill, a Russian engineer believes his device will correct a long recognized defect in the science of air navigation.

Dill's invention consists of an apparatus for altering the "angle of incidence" of the plane while flying. In the tests it was found possible to alter the angle eight degrees, causing a corresponding difference in speed ranging from 150 kilometers an hour to 90, and to make a landing with in a space of 15 meters.

A 130 horsepower French motor was used and the airplane had a wing spread of approximately 33 square yards. The pilot was a Russian, Kudilenko, attached to Marshall Chang Tso-lin's flying staff.

YOST LOSES FOUR REGS BY INJURIES

Michigan Will Face Minnesota On Grid In Greatly Weakened Condition

Ann Arbor—Four University of Michigan substitute football players, who sat on the side lines at the start of the gridiron season knowing that there would be but a small chance of becoming regulars this season, will start in Saturday's game against the Minnesota eleven in that capacity.

Tom Holzer, received his opportunity to catch a flyer to fame in the Wisconsin game last Saturday when the quarterback fashed off a 65-yard run for the winning touchdown. Against the Gophers he again will call signals and act in the capacity of field director formerly held by Irwin Uteritz, stellar quarterback, injured in the Marine game.

Favorable reports are emanating from behind the closed gates of Ferry field where the coaches are grooming George Brown for the pivotal position held by Jack Blott, who sustained a broken leg in the Badgers game, and the youngster will toss the ball from the center position.

The other two men are Vick, full-back, and Babcock, tackle. Both men received their chance when injuries forced Miller and Vandervoort to relinquish their positions.

APPLETON QUINT PLAYS BRILLION

Holzer's Aces Replace Basings Sports In Contest With Legionnaires

Conflicting dates caused the announcement that Basing's Sports were scheduled for a cage contest with the Brillion Legionnaires Friday. The Brillion manager, in agreeing to this match evidently forgot that he already had arranged a game for that same evening with the Appleton Aces, Leslie Holzer's crack team.

Last Season Holzer's quint won an overtime victory over the Brillionites, and the latter intend to take revenge for that loss in Friday's game. They are said to be stronger than ever before, while the Appleton Aces have practically the same lineup as last year and are working together in perfect coordination.

JAZZ IN CHURCHES DEFENDED

Frank L. Seely, warden of the American Guild of Organists, has stirred up considerable argument with his recent declaration that the jazz spirit has invaded the church. Sermons, he maintains, are ranging from being entertainingly modern to bordering on flippancy, and that the music is actually sensational. Those defending the jazz church ask, "Why should the devil have all the good tunes?"
